Coakley Beats Bigney---Buckley Leads His Ticket

COUNCILLOR WINNER IN BITTER BATTLE

Sweeping to victory over former Senator Robert E. Bigney, after one of the most bitter battles in the primaries, Governor's Councillor Daniel H. Coakley was assured today of another term on Beacon Hill.

Completion of the Democratic tabulation in the fourth Suffolk councillor district gave Coakley 37,193 votes to 24,604 for Bigney, or a plurality of 12,589. Eight candidates were in the field.

The Democratic nomination in this district is tantamount to election.

Coakley fought bitterly against allowing the name of Bigney on the ballot in recent hearings before the ballot law commission.

MORAL VICTORY

Up until the last returns Bigney had refused to concede defeat and was of the opinion he might overhaul Coakley in the last stages of the count.

Despite his defeat, Bigney's vote was interpreted by him as distinct support by residents of his district for his fight against Coakley before the ballot law commission.

OFF G. O. P. BALLOT

Bigney, during the recent hearings on the validity of his nomination papers, both Republican and Democratic, charged that Coakley was behind both protests.

He also sought removal of Coakley's name from the ballot on the ground he was a resident of Brighton, which is not in the Fourth District.

His petition was denied and his name was ruled off the Republican ballot, but he was allowed to run in the Democratic primary.

"Soviets" Seize French Factory in Strike Riot

Paris, Sept. 16 (INS)—Violence flared on the French strike front today, scores of persons being injured, and out of the chaos emerged a factory operated on a Soviet plan by workers who seized it by force.

For the first time since France's wave of strikes began, workmen in Soviet fashion took over and began operating the Rhodiaseta Artificial Silk plant at Lyons.

Fifteen hundred workers, including many women, occupied the plant and seized the director and three of his assistants, whom they held as hostages.

Strikers armed with bludgeons held the hostages for many hours while they "occupied" the plant. Then they released the officials and began operation of the plant themselves on a Soviet scheme.

Director Lombard made an immediate protest to the police upon being released. Late this afternoon no measures had been taken to evict the workers, who continued to run the mills undisturbed.

Moses Loses To Bridges In N. H.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 16—Youthful Governor H. Styles Bridges and Major Francis P. Murphy were easy winners of the Republican Senate and gubernatorial nominations as tabulation of New Hampshire's primary vote was nearly completed today.

Governor Bridges wrested the nomination for the United States Senate from the veteran former Senator George H. Moses to climax a campaign which bristled with bitterness and was featured on primary eve by a purported endorsement of Moses by former President Herbert Hoover.

Complete returns in the senatorial contest gave Bridges, 45,307; Moses, 32,318; Callahan, 3468.

Major Murphy swept to the front after his opponent, Elliot A. Carter, Nashua manufacturer, had stepped into a slight lead, and was never headed thereafter. Carter conceded the victory late last night.

Major Murphy's total was 44,629 against 27,719 votes piled up for Carter in the 295 precincts complete.

Congressman William N. Rogers and Amos N. Blandin, speaker of the State House, were unopposed for the Democratic nominations for United States Senate and governor.

Congressman Charles W. Tobey had an easy time and piled up a lead far ahead of the combined totals of his four opponents to assure himself of renomination.

Complete returns for the Democratic nomination in the First Congressional District gave: Banigan, 232; Flynn, 2032; Greene (T.), 1447; Lambert, 669; O'Connor, 1638; Roy, 6896; Sherman, 7008.

The complete vote for the Republican nomination gave: Carroll, 7985; Fuller, 13,028; Jenks, 16,164.

Endorsed by the National Union for Social Justice, Mrs. Reavey, mother of seven children, polled 5628 votes, 1000 better than the nearest of her seven opponents.

And one of these opponents was Patrick E. Granfield of Springfield, brother of the congressman who resigned the seat which Mrs. Reavey may fill in Congress. Former Congressman Granfield was recently appointed a municipal judge by Governor Curley.

Surprise balloting, overturns and exploded myths that featured the Massachusetts primaries, were revealed today when the smoke cleared away.

Former City Councillor Francis E. Kelly of Dorchester stunned the Democratic machine by roundly trouncing Philip J. Philbin of Clinton for the lieutenant-governor nomination.

Representative Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Republican candidate for United States Senator, gave the Democrats heart flutters by clinching his nomination with the tremendous vote of 350,000, while former State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook was receiving only 40,000.

State Auditor Thomas H. Buckley topped the Democratic ticket with a poll of 250,000, evidencing new popularity.

Mayor Robert E. Greenwood of Fitchburg ran up a vote of more than 100,000 in losing the Democratic nomination for United States senator to Governor Curley, and the Curley camp was troubled today over Greenwood on election day iin November, when he will be an independent candidate against Curley and Lodge.

The Democratic pre-primary slate was shattered, one of the sharpest breaks coming through the heavy vote given former Civil Service Commissioner James M. Hurley over State Senator James C. Scanlan of Somerville for the Democratic state treasurer nomination.

AID TO SALTONSTALL

Former City Councillor Kelly's winning of the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor over Philbin was heard with jubilation by the Republicans who predict that Speaker of the House Leverett Saltonstall, the G. O. P. candidate, would be an easy victor over Kelly on November 3.

Philbin, a former associate of Senator David I. Walsh, was endorsed for lieutenant-governor in the Democratic pre-primary, when most Democratic leaders were expecting that Commissioner of Correction Arthtur Lyman would be endorsed.

Philbin was bitterly attacked on the stump by Thomas Ray, a former messenger to ex-Governor Joseph B. Ely. Ray became a candidate for the nomination, but his name was removed from the ballot by the state ballot law commission after stormy hearings on Beacon Hill.

G. O. P. SEES SLUMP

In Boston, the big Democratic stronghold, Governor Curley received a total of but 89,919 votes to Greenwood's 34,994 and 13,479 for Thomas C. O'Brien, Union Party candidate. Curley's Boston plurality was 41,446.

This ratio was relatively the same throughout the state and was being hailed today by the Republicans as showing a decided slump away from the more than 100,000

CURLEY'S VOTE CUT 33,976

Governor Curley, in seeking the Democratic nomination for United States senator this year, received 33,976 fewer votes than were given him two years ago when he received the Democratic nomination for governor.

Two years ago, Curley garnered 280,400 votes in the primaries, while this year only 246,424 ballots were cast for him.

Representative Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who won the Republican senatorial nomination and who will oppose Curley in the November election, polled 124,495 more votes, however, than Gaspar G. Bacon received two years ago for the Republican nomination for governor.

Republicans voting for senator yesterday numbered approximately 20,000 more than the total vote for gubernatorial candidates in the Republican column in 1934.

BRANN, FARLEY CONFER; RECOUNT DEMAND SEEN

Democrats Bitter

Will Carry Fight On to Senate

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

New York, Sept. 16 (INS) — Governor Louis J. Brann of Maine, defeated Democratic candidate for United States senator in the Maine election Monday, conferred with James A. Farley, the Roosevelt campaign manager, today and it was strongly indicated Brann will demand a recount.

A definite decision will be made after Brann has a chance to go over the situation with Farley and Senator Joseph Guffey, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee.

"If they'll give me the money the Republicans used to beat me, I'll elect a chinaman governor of Maine," declared Brann in a brief interview with the press.

Governor Brann sat next to Farley and Senator Guffey at the press conference and when asked if he would insist upon a recount, replied:

"That's up to Senator Guffey. We are going over some matters concerning the Maine election now."

CARRY FIGHT TO SENATE

Guffey indicated that the recount would be asked and, if not granted in Maine, the request would be carried to the United States Senate.

Asked what he thought the effect of the Maine election will have upon the Presidential election, Brann said:

"The effect will be favorable to Roosevelt. Look at the efforts the Republicans made to beat me and the others on the ticket. They used a battalion of speakers from every state in the Union. Colonel Knox, their vice-presidential candidate, came into Maine. Then, 36 hours before election, the brought in Governor Landon, their Presidential candidate.

"Despite that I was defeated by less than 5000 votes in an election which brought out the largest vote in Maine's history."

RESULT "FAVORABLE"

Governor Brann declared the Republicans "used the greatest efforts made in America to beat a candidate" in fighting him and added that "if they could not make a better showing against me I think the result is particularly favorable to Roosevelt."

"The Republicans had more money than they ever used in a Maine election—three times as much," Brann said.

Asked if there had been any bribery, he made his reference to electing a Chinaman providing he had sufficient money.

"What effect had Governor Landon's visit on the election," he was asked.

"Landon helped me. He talked in Portland. I carried Portland."

Vice President John N. Garner visited Mayor F. H. LaGuardia at City Hall this morning and will be at Democratic headquarters this afternoon. Democratic leaders will give a private dinner in his honor tonight.

MARTIN SCOFFS

At Republican headquarters Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., director of the eastern division, scoffed at the Democratic threat of a demand for a recount in the Maine election.

"This recount talk if only a smoke screen," said Martin. "Nothing will come of it. The Maine result is a major Democratic setback. They count the votes straight in New England."

Colby Charges Deal Tries to Nullify Constitution

Chicago, Sept. 16 (AP)—Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state in the Wilson administration, accused the New Deal of "a persistent effort" to nullify the Constitution "by artifice and indirection."

"It is time that the New Deal criticism of the Constitution, as an obstacle to progress, was silenced," he said in a speech prepared for a luncheon meeting of the Union League Club. "To begin with, the criticism is untrue. It is also stupid and ignorant.

"The troubles that New Deal legislation have encountered are not the fault of the Constitution. They are the fault of the New Dealers who, according to Senator Borah, have neither the ability nor the patience to draft legislation in conformity with the Constitution."

To New Dealers, he said, know that if their plans were proposed openly, "the people would frustrate and defeat them."

KNICK'BOCKER, WAR REPORTER, HELD IN SPAIN

New York, Sept. 16 (INS)—In the absence of confirmation of reports H. R. Knickerbocker, noted war correspondent, has been detained by Spanish rebels at Caceres, Spain, International News Service took steps today to ascertain his status and requested the United States government aid to effect his release if the reports are substantiated.

Knickerbocker, who has been covering the Spanish civil war since hostilities broke out more than two months ago, left northern rebel headquarters at Burgos, Spain, on Sunday for the Toledo battlefront.

TELLS OF ARRESTS

He advised at that time he would be out of touch for three or four days. The report he and a number of other foreign correspondents had been arrested at Caceres failed of immediate confirmation. However, in the series of articles he is sending from Spain in a "war log," the arrests of correspondents are told about.

Lee Dickson of the International News Service Paris staff, temporarily assigned to San Sebastian, was instructed to make representations to leaders of the rebel Junta to ascertain Knickerbocker's status and bring about his release if he is actually under arrest.

In addition, United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers, who is now in France, and the American state department were approached in the matter.

CODE REVEALS PLIGHT

The London Daily Express correspondent at Lisbon succeeded in penetrating the censorship with a message to his London office in code, apparently giving some confirmation to the report of the arrests.

He said Knickerbocker and his colleagues reached Caceres by automobile from Burgos just as a fleet of foreign-made and foreign-manned airplanes were being lined up on the aid field and were taken into custody when they attempted to question officers regarding the planes' destination.

Knickerbocker War Log:

Italian Fliers, Nazi Planes Aid Rebels

Following is the third of the war logs sent from the Spanish battlefront by H. R. Knickerbocker, famous roving correspondent of International News Service.

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service.)

Seville, Sept. 16—We landed on this airport with less formality and trouble than you usually have in peacetime at London's big Croydon. Not only did nobody shoot at us but nobody paid any attention to us. The field was lined with airplanes.

I noted nine of the largest size Junkers and the sight of them made me homesick for Dessau, Germany, where back in 1927 Professor Junkers took me on a trial flight of one of the first models like these.

All these Junkers were painted green, the German numbers blotted out. There were also a number of Savoia Marchetti planes from Italy and a huge Douglas tri-motor.

All these planes, of course, are fitted out with bombing racks and since most of them have a speed of at least 175 miles an hour, there is no reason why they should not compete with regular army bombers.

Our little Leopard Moth nosed up through a group of Junkers and I walked into the airport building where a swarm of Spanish and Foreign Legion officers were standing round talking.

An Old Friend

I presented my passport to a friendly looking officer and gave his my letters of introduction to General Francisco Franco, Commander-in-chief in the south, and to General Quiepo de Llano. The officer was courteous but evidently neither he nor anybody else was assigned to a regular service of inspection of arriving visitors.

He ordered an automobile for us and while we were waiting I had another of those curious meetings which continue to support the old saw about the size of the world. I noticed a tall, broad-shouldered handsome fellow in the Foreign Legion uniform and knew that I knew him but for a moment could not place him.

I walked up to him, said hello, where did we meet before?" and he cried, "Hello there, name of heaven!" in Italian, of course.

Italian Teachers

It was the crack pilot of the Italian airforce whom I had met for the first time in Ostia, the Roman beach, just a few months ago. And this same pilot had told me then that he had been among the pilots who bombed us in Dessye, Abyssinia, last December. Now he was a member of the Spanish Foreign Legion, but he told me he and his companions were only instructing the Spanish fliers.

The Italian delegation consisted of seventeen officers, one colonel, one lieutenant colonel, one major, five captains and nine lieutenants, all registered at the Hotel Cristina. The ones I saw wore the uniform of the Spanish Legion.

Most of the foreign officers were quartered in the Cristina and journalists were discouraged from staying there. They were asked to stay all together in the Hotel Madrid down in the center of the town, but no objection was raised to my staying at the Hotel Andalusia Palace.

Roast, Suffocate

This hotel was formerly called the Alphonso XIII. After Alphonso fled the country, the hotel changed its name, but now it has resumed the royal title. It is one of the most luxurious and comfortable hotels in the world but it had exactly five guests today.

The heat here in Seville is terrific. It is almost as bad as Djibuti. All officers, from generals on down, wear no jackets, but light khaki shirts with the collars wide open and sleeves rolled up.

In the hotel they explained it was necessary to keep the windows closed. I complained I would suffocate. They said: "If you open the windows you will roast." Sure enough, they were right, so I suffocated until I could stand it no longer, then roasted a while, then back to suffocation. We drank an average of two gallons a day of mineral water.

I had a note from our Captain Aguilera in charge of the press in the North, to his friend, Captain Louis Bolin, holding the same job in the South.

French Attack

Capt. Bolin, like Capt. Aguilera, had a British mother and spoke perfect English. He was most helpful.

He told me that today two French airplanes, carrying the colors of France, had flown over Irun and bombed the attacking Whites.

There is certainly no doubt about the active participation of Europe in this war. I have personally seen brand new French airplanes, painted freshly with Madrid's war sign, flying over and bombing the White positions both in the north and in the south.

The streets of Seville give the plainest evidence of the German and Italian participation. The German fliers wear a broad-brimmed sombrero, something like the service hats their African colonial troops used to wear.

The governments concerned find it easy to disclaim any official connection with the intervention on the part of their private citizens.

Reds Split in Spain; New Battles Raging

By Associated Press

A new and apparently serious split in the government defense of northern Spain opened up today while the militiamen of Madrid on the central battleground announced they had plowed a mile-deep hole in the Fascist front.

Basque Nationalists in the north, who previously had broken with anarchists because the latter fired Irun before it was taken by the Fascists, set up a virtually autonomous government and ousted the anarchists from all government posts in the territory still dominated by friends of the Madrid regime.

Government militiamen, 40,000 strong, also formed a new battle line from Orio to Regil, west and south of fallen San Sebastian, while at Bilboa, still farther to the west, government firing squads blasted out the lives of 62 officers who attempted a revolt.

Government forces in central Spain, fighting desperately to stem the Fascist advances on Toledo and Madrid, claimed the mile-long advance in the Santa Olalla sector, 24 miles from Toledo. New triumphs, also, were announced for the Madrid militiamen in Cordoba province.

In Madrid, United States diplomatic authorities set Tuesday as the final deadline for use of the American embassy for refugees. It then will be closed, with officials remaining in the capital in private residences.

At Burgos, the Fascist provisional government, by decree, "outlawed" all parties supporting Madrid, including the Socialists, Communists, Anarchists, Syndicalists, Left Republicans and Basque Nationalists. All their property was ordered seized.

Obeys Orders!

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 16 (AP)—When police ordered James Clinton, 30-year-old itinerant, to leave the city he protested he didn't have ferryboat fare. "Then swim," said Inspector Eugene Murphy, "but get out of here."

The police soon received a call from the Clay street pier. Clinton was disrobing for the transbay swim. He was locked up.

LANDON HOME, PREDICTS DEAL REPUDIATION

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 16 (INS)—Back at his State House desk, working on Kansas problems, Governor Alfred M. Landon today declared the enthusiastic receptions accorded him on his eastern trip to Maine convinced him the nation will repudiate the New Deal at the polls in November.

"The spirit shown by the people of every community visited on the trip to Maine through New England, the East and the Middle West, convinces me that these people have decided to repudiate federal waste, extravagance and incompetence, to eliminate politics from relief and to restore self-government in America.

"This spirit goes far beyond partisanship and reflects an aroused citizenry determined to have a truly representative government in Washington.

"Everyday Americans at every stop emphatically voiced their enthusiasm. Their attitude is proof we are moving forward to victory in November."

MEETS G. O. P. YOUTH

The Governor will resume his campaign Friday when he addresses a conference here of young Republicans.

The conference, called by J. Kenneth Bradley, of Connecticut, National Young Republican chairman, and Fred A. Seaton, Kansas chairman, will include other state chairmen, vice chairmen, members of the national committee and regional directors of the Young Republican movement.

Landon's speech will deal with the part youth should and can play in perfecting the Federal government.

The nominee also planned to complete the speeches he will deliver on his coming campaign trip through the farm belt into Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, starting September 22. He will deliver major addresses in Des Moines, Minneapolis and Milwaukee, the first presenting his entire farm relief program.

GRATIFIED BY RESULTS

Landon was deeply gratified with the results of his surprise invasion of Maine on the eve of the state elections there. His advisers were equally delighted and frankly elated over his political sagacity in making the trip.

Some of his confidants opposed the tour, warning him he would risk his personal prestige in the presidential campaign if Senator Wallace H. White were defeated for re-election. He was told Governor Louis J. Brann, whom White defeated after being endorsed by Landon, had a real hold on the people of Maine and a strong four-year-old state machine.

Landon was undeterred by these warnings and decided to go to White's aid, regardless of the outcome. He believed his personal appearance there to discuss national campaign issues would help retain White in the Senate.

JUDGMENT VINDICATED

The Maine victory was all the sweeter to his advisers, because it vindicated Landon's political judgment.

The tremendous enthusiasm of crowds on the way east and on the return trip to Topeka, through Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania, amazed Republican leaders.

Nation-Wide Poll

'Undecided' Voter Making Up Mind

The voter who "hasn't yet made up his mind"—and who will ultimately decide the coming Presidential election—is about 16 per cent of the total vote, for the nation as a whole. This important fact is exclusively revealed by the latest Crossley Poll figures. The second week's percentages show some changes over the initial poll, indicated as follows:

	Initial Poll	Latest Poll
Male	14.6%	13.9%
Female	19.3%	18.3%

Inference: Definitely more indecision among women than men.

	Initial Poll	Latest Poll
Under 25	17.2%	17.1%
Aged 25-40	17.6%	16.5%
Over 40	15.5%	14.6%

Inference: The "new voters" are slower than the older ones in making up their minds.

	Initial Poll	Latest Poll
Average incomes	16.0%	15.0%
Lower incomes	22.4%	20.8%

Inference: The markedly undecided group is in the lower-income class, but these voters' minds are clarifying.

Undecided voters are amply sufficient to swing the election one way or the other.

By ARCHIBALD M. CROSSLEY
Copyright, 1936, King Features Synd., Inc.

New York, Sept. 16—That all-important person, the "undecided" voter, is beginning slowly to make up his mind, according to latest figures of the Crossley Poll.

Indecision is diminishing, and the voter who "hasn't made up his mind" is starting to place himself in either the Landon or Roosevelt camp, or in the minor party group. So far, the drift is slight, but it is perceptible.

While, obviously, neither candidate can be expected to capture the entire vote that is at present in a state of indecision, several "key" states are so close that their entire electoral vote will go to the candidate who captures even a fair majority of the voters whose minds are now in a state of flux.

Pivotal Group

Among the important pivotal group favoring Roosevelt where a slight increase for Landon will deliver the state's electoral votes to the Kansas Governor, we find 19.7 per cent of Ohio's voters with their minds not yet made up.

Taking the Roosevelt-Landon, or major party, vote as 100 per cent, Landon is shown by the second week's Crossley Poll to have 49 per cent in Ohio, to Roosevelt's 51 per cent, so obviously the undecided vote is a very important factor in this state.

Illinois is another state shown by the second week's poll to be 49 per cent Landon to 51 per cent Roosevelt. Of Illinois' total voters 23.1 per cent are undecided.

In New York, investigators found Landon had 48 per cent of the majority party vote. Of total voters, the undecided group accounted for 17.8 per cent.

In Michigan, Landon had 46 per the major-party vote. Undecided, 21.0 per cent of total voters.

In Nebraska, Landon had 46 per cent of the major-party vote. Undecided, 21.0 per cent of total voters.

On the other hand, New Jersey was found to be in the Landon column by a bare 51 per cent of the majority-party vote. Thirteen per cent of total voters are undecided.

Indiana was three points over the line for Landon, but 12.7 per cent of total voters had not made up their minds. Pennsylvania was five points over the line, and 13 per cent of voters had not reached a decision.

It may be of some significance that the pivotal Roosevelt states average 18.4 per cent for undecided voters, while the pivotal Landon states average only 13.8 per cent. This would sem to indicate a greater opportunity for Landon to swing the pivotal voters in the pivotal states away from Roosevelt, than for Roosevelt to capture the pivotal voters in Landon states.

The Crossley Poll is published in the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

TEXTILE CRAFTS VOTE 1 UNION

New York, Sept. 16 (INS)—The giant United Textile Workers of America organization today unanimously voted to commit itself to industrial unionism.

This action is intended to assure united action of the union and preclude jurisdictional disputes between any of the various crafts of the organization, placing supreme control in the international executive council.

The organization as a whole already was committed to the principles of industrial unionism, but heretofore plants have not been organized on that basis, the weavers, bleachers and other crafts having jurisdiction over their problems in individual plants.

An amendment to the organization's constitution was reported by the law committee to make the new vertical organization possible. It was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Another amendment was proposed which would require a two-thirds vote, with members of all crafts represented, before a strike may be called in a plant. Under existing rules a single craft may vote a strike. The proposal provoked a row which ended only when it was sent back to committee for "clarification."

CRASH Laid to Silent RADIO

N. Y. SKIPPER ON STAND

If the excursion steamer Romance had had a radio operator aboard last Wednesday night, the collision between her and the S. S. New York might have been averted it was testified today.

Captain Roland M. Litchfield of the New York made this statement in answer to questions put to him by Captain Oscar G. Haines at the third-day hearing in the United States Appraisers' Stores.

Previously, it had been brought out that the radio operator of the Romance had been discharged two days prior to the maritime crash in which 200 persons were involved.

Q—On Sept. 9, rfom 7:10 to 7:13 p. m., were both engines of the New York stopped?

A—At 7:10 both engines were stopped. At 7:12½, the port engine was started. At 7:13 the port engine was stopped. At 7:13½, full speed astern. At 7:14, port engines, slow speed ahead for port, and starboard engine stopped.

Q—In how much time would it take to stop from full speed ahead at 19 knots?

A—Two minutes and fifteen seconds.

Q—After passing Finn's Ledge, did you hear any strange vessels or any different whistles? A—Not after passing Finn's Ledge. The first strange whistle that I heard was that of a pilot boat.

Q—How soon did you hear the strange whistle? A—I heard the air-horn of the pilot boat in the vicinity of Graves' Light at 7:10 p. m.

Q—From 7:10 to 7:13½, what did you hear? A—At 7:13 I finished giving the ship a turn to the right when I heard the other whistle supposed to be the Romance.

Northeast Tide

Q—When you bumped into the Romance, do you know how far you pushed her? A—It's hard to state. The position I was in after the collision was a good third of a mile northeast to where the collision occurred. Incidentally, the tide runs northeast.

Q—Did you say that there was an interval of three and one-half minutes from the first time you heard the whistle of the Romance until the time of the collision? A—I heard the Romance at approximately 7:11. I saw her at 7:13½.

Q—When you first heard the whistle of the Romance, was it loud? A—No, it seemed away off.

Q—And then was she upon you in a few seconds? A—Yes.

As the questioning continued, Haines touched the radio phase.

Q—Would you have been in communication with the Roman had there been a radio operator aboard the Romance? A—Yes.

Q—Do you think the collision could have been avoided that way? A—I do.

Q—How? A—We could have exchanged messages to learn the position of each vessel. Along the entire route, in foggy weather, we always keep in constant touch with other vessels.

RICKENBACKER HEADS PARTY

Carbonear, Newfoundland, Sept. 16 (AP)—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker left at 2 a. m. today in the motorship Lincoln in a new attempt to reach Harry Richman and Dick Merrill in Musgrave Harbor.

He expected the 145-mile trip to take approximately 15 hours.

Rickenbacker is eading an expedition carrying gasoline and spare parts to the American transatlantic fliers.

He transferred his expedition, fuel and a new propeller for Richman's $100,000 plane, Lady Peace, to the motorship Lincoln, leaving his plane at the Harbor Grace Airport.

Before setting out for Musgrave Harbor, Rickenbacker said today the Lady Peace would be dismantled and shipped to Harbor Grace by boat if repairs could not be effected at its present location.

Supplies Sent

Supplies and fuel were ordered sent to Harbor Grace in the event it is necessary to reassemble the plane there.

Rickenbacker expects to reach Musgrave Harbor during the afternoon.

Richman, night club entertainer, and Merrill, veteran pilot, were forced down Monday when their plane ran short of fuel after they had battered rain, fog and sleet during the last stages of a trans-ocean flight from Southport, England.

The New York Daily News, in a copyright story from Musgrave Harbor, said a row during the flight between Richman and Merrill "ended in the dumping of 500 gallons of gasoline and all but crashed the Lady Peace in the ocean."

"Merrill, burning with anger, was bitter toward Richman as he stood beside the crippled plane," the News asserted.

"We had enough gas to get to Atlanta," the newspaper declared Merrill said. "It was one hell of an experience, I'll tell you.

'Master Mind'

"Why did we land here in this marsh? Ask Mr. Richman; he's the master mind here—and he's been master mind throughout. We were almost sunk in the drink.

"I thought we were gone. I wanted to land on the beach here, but like in everything else I had no say—including the dumping of the gasoline that was more than enough to get us from London to New York."

The paper said as Richman approached during the conversation he and Merrill looked in opposite directions.

Boston Actors Lonely

California's Fine, Of Course; Grand Climate, But---

By PEGGY DOYLE
Boston American Staff Writer

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 16—It's old-home week every week for Bostonians, by birth or preference, on location here with Paramount's "Maid of Salem" company.

Probably the two most popular members of the Boston clan are E. E. Clive and Donald Meek, two of the screen's greatest character actors.

Until 1930, Clive directed and appeared with the Copley Players in Boston with great success for 15 years and, despite his very considerable Hollywood success, he wishes he were back there this minute—permanently.

He plays the amiable town drunkard, Thomas Ezekiel Dilge, and Donald Meek plays the elderly hypocritical Ezra Cheeves, who leads the church singing and believes thoroughly in witches and their spells, in the Salem picture. And so, cinematically, they are lethal enemies.

Played "The Devil"

But just observe them once they have finished their stint before the cameras. Seated on a fence munching apples they've just picked in a neighboring orchard or sauntering down past the extras costumed as men and women of the town gathered on the village green, they pause at the other side of Beadle's Tavern for a soft-drink at the entrance refreshment stand.

Nearly always you'll find them getting back to the subject of Boston and Copley Players' and the Castle Square Theater days.

"I feel," says Donald Meek, who is precisely the opposite of the nasty-nice characters he portrays on the celluloid with such poisonous perfection, "I feel that I can lay claim to being a Bostonian after the years I played at the Castle Square theater, where I occupied the same dressing-room throughout the ten years I was there.

"One of our most ambitious productions was 'The Devil.' We had announced its opening with a great fanfare in the press when Henry Savage suddenly came out with the announcement that he would present it first.

Boston Is 'Home'

"But did that stop us? On the day the Savage company was scheduled to give the initial performance, we gave a 9 a. m. matinee, probably the first of its kind ever given."

No one enjoys these reminiscences more than Clive's son, David, a student at the University of Southern California where he is on the football team, now resident guest at the location camp here.

Like his father, he makes it clear that not all of California's sunshine and glitter, monetary as well as visual, can make up for Boston's Tremont street, east wind and general atmosphere of home, sweet home.

He's hoping that when his father flies to Boston for the "Maid of Salem" world premiere, tentatively scheduled for Christmas night, he'll be invited along to refresh childhood memories of his hometown. Donald Meek, as well, has been budging for a "bid."

Overhearing them, Harvey Stephens, handsome young leading man lent by M. G. M. for the important role of Dr. John Harding, village doctor and apothecary of Salem Village, voiced a wish to go along.

E. E. CLIVE DONALD MEEK

They are making "Maid of Salem" out in Santa Cruz, California. Busy men and women are kept stepping as the great Paramount feature is filmed. At left is E. E. Clive, former director and leading man of the Boston Copley players, who will appear as the "town drunkard." At right is Donald Meek, as "Mr. Cheeves."

Other Bostonians

"I'm a Bostonian by marriage," "Dr. John" revealed, pridefully, as he skilfully operated on a leg of a Plymouth Rock chicken.

"We were having luncheon under a canvas in the huge dining-room that has been set up in the tented city occupied by Director Frank Lloyd and his assistants and cast while on location here.

"My wife was a Boston girl. Her family lives on Commonwealth avenue. I've seen the house. Isn't Commonwealth avenue supposed to be the richest and longest street in the world? I seem to have heard it was. Anyway, it has beauty and loads of atmosphere, especially of an Easter morning when Boston's best go on parade in all their elegance."

Mrs. Stephens is the former Beatrice Nichols, who took part in many amateur plays in Boston before she appeared for three years in John Golden's "Lightnin'."

Another hankerer after Boston is Walter Sullivan, Paramount's generator operator, who 15 years ago exchanged Cohasset for Hollywood and has lived on the West Coast ever since. He has many relatives in Cohasset, Boston and Cambridge.

"Boston," he says, with a nostolgic yearn, "is a great place. Not a city in the world to equal it! Minute I learned you folks were from there I determined to look you up.

"I certainly miss the winters back home, even though they were marrow-chilling. California weather seems pretty tame compared to our New England brand."

Barrel-chested, hearty Allen Sewall of Cambridge, who proudly traces his lineage back seven generations to Judge Sewall, Massachusetts' first chief justice, undoubtedly has the deepest interest of any one on the set in "Maid of Salem."

His sister, Mrs. Nellie L. Bennett, and his brother, Samuel F. Sewall, both of Burlington, Mass., will watch with interest his every brief appearance during the picture as a town father, but their, as well as his, absorbing concern is that now finally the actual, debunked story of Salem witchcraft is to be told for the first time.

Their ancestor, the picture will show, observed annually in private a day of humiliation and prayer, during the remainder of his life, to keep fresh in his mind a sense of repentance and sorrow for the part he bore in the trials.

On the day of the general fast, he rose in the place where he was accustomed to worship, Boston's Old South Church, and in the presence of the great assembly, handed up to the pulpit a written confession.

In Old Diary

In it, he acknowledged the error into which he had been led, prayed for the forgiveness of God and his people, and concluded with a request to all the congregation to unite with him in devout supplication that it might not bring down the displeasure of the Most High, upon his country, his family or himself.

In his diary under the date of April 23, 1720, nearly 30 years afterward, he wrote:

"In Dr. Neal's History of New England, its nakedness is laid open in the businesses of the Quakers, Ana-baptists, Witchcraft. The judges' names are mentioned p. 502, my confession p. 536, vol. 2. The good and gracious God be pleased to save New England and me, and my family."

The historian Upham, in his "Lectures on Witchcraft," pays tribute to Judge Sewall as "a truly great and magnanimous spirit . . . a spirit that had achieved greater victory than warrier had ever won, a victory over itself."

PROTEST OVER HITLER ANTI-HEBREW TALKS

Geneva, Sept. 16 (US)—A bitter protest against the anti-Jewish utterances of Chancellor Hitler and other German government officials at the annual Nazi party congress in Nuremberg, has been forwarded to the League of Nations and individual European powers by the executive committee of the World Jewish Congress.

The committee also objected to the Nazi campaign attacking "another European state" interpreted as meaning Soviet Russia, and against the Nazi efforts to couple Jews with Bolshevism.

In a communique the executive committee states:

"The committee, among others, has protested against political agitation pursued by the German government against another European state and the absurd affirmation that Judaism and Bolshevism are identical.

"It is sufficient to recall the historic fact that not world Judaism, but German militarism during the World War, favored the ascension of Bolshevism to power."

The communique warned that German Jews are on the threshold of "A renewed wave of unrestrained anti-Semitism." It called upon Europe's statesmen to lend their efforts toward halting persecution of Jews.

Mrs. Demarest's Appeal

Woman Bares Red 'Anti-God' Drive

Special to American Newspapers, Inc.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 16—In a stirring patriotic address before the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Victoria Booth Demarest, famous lecturer, world traveler and student of international affairs, last night warned America to stamp out Communism before Communism stamps out Americanism.

She called upon the mothers to safeguard the nation's youth from Communistic propaganda filtering into American school life.

Her address, a vibrant appeal from a woman who pictured to her audience every aspect of the menace of international Communist subversion, was vigorously applauded by the large audience of civic leaders who attended the meeting.

Against God

Declaring that the objective of Communism is the destruction of Christian civilization and the establishment of an atheistic world, Mrs. Demarest said:

"The Communists have put on a world campaign against God. It is organized, directed and financed from Russia. It is called 'The Internationale of the Militant Godless,' and it is active in every nation of the world.

"Why? The Communists direct their attack on God—hate God—because God and His laws stand between them and the accomplishment of their ends, namely, the complete destruction of our Christian civilization and our Christian democracy, so that the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics of atheistic Russia will become the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics of an atheistic world."

To make clear her own position in the fight against Communism, Mrs. Demarest quoted from the Scriptures: "The nations that forget God shall be cast into Hell."

'Russia Hell'

"If you want a remarkable picture of Hell, look at Russia. Let it be emphatically stated that I do not fight persons but principles. I hate drink but I do not hate the drunkard. I hate Communism, but I do not hate the Communist. Communism is to be hated because it has proved itself to be the sworn enemy of God and of man.

"Nor do I fight any race or nation—I fight every philosophy, every theory, every proposed form of government that is destructive to faith in God, Christian ideals and American principles of democracy, justice and freedom. I stand for the Bible, the church, the home and the Constitution."

Supporting her charge of atheism against the Communists, Mrs. Demarest quoted from recent public Soviet documents. She said:

"Concerning the persecution of religion in Russia at the present time, Yaraslavsky, who is president of the International Union of the Militant Godless, declared in his paper to the Union of Militant Godless, in connection with the first of May demonstration in Moscow, that the war against the church and religion must continue unabated.

"You read in your papers that at Easter great numbers worshipped in the streets of Russia's leading cities, and this was urged by the American press as evidence that persecution of religion in Russia was diminishing.

"Yaraslavsky explains in the official organ of the Militant Godless, 'The foreigners think that is because we have abated our persecution of religion. It is simply because the people have but a few churches left to which to go.'"

Red France

Calling attention to the recent Communist victory in France and the organization of the so-called "popular front" in that country, Mrs. Demarest said:

"Moscow glories in this result of her propaganda and activities in France, and the Communist leaders are planning carefully to work by infiltration to the end that France might become a vassal state of the Soviet union.

"It was such a Communist plan that resulted in the reaction in Germany of which the Hitler dictatorship was the outcome. The dictatorship, terrible as it is, was the alternative to Communist rule, and as such was undoubtedly the lesser of two evils."

Mrs. Demarest told of the fight against religion in Switzerland, England, Mexico, the South American countries and in Canada, and then declared:

"The Communists are the instigators of the fight against religion, but every totalitarian state, and these now include Russia, Germany, Italy, Japan and Turkey, is in its very nature anti-God, for it substitutes the worship of a dictator for the worship of God, bondage of spirit for freedom of conscience, the authority of the state for the authority of God's laws."

"And what of America?" asked Mrs. Demarest. She continued:

"You saw that our country is safe — but without doubt the liberties of every nation are endangered.

"It is high time that America awake to realize that it is not safe. It is far from safe! Would to God that at this time, which is the most critical in our national history, instead of reading so much lightness and foolishness we would, before it is too late, read the writings of Washington and those of Lincoln, we would better be prepared to face the world situation.

"May I tell you in a few words what I myself witnessed here in our beloved America? In Madison Square Garden, New York city, at the great Communist meeting held on May Day of last year, I couldn't find a seat. The place was packed and hundreds were turned away.

"There I heard a professor from Columbia University hail Russia as 'the country of freedom, peace and progress!' He was applauded to the echo!

"I heard the American government attacked, and the 'Internationale' sung. I also witnessed the Communist parade on the same day. I watched by the hour as thousands marched—Americans—large numbers of them students, high school boys and girls, women as well as men, professional men, people from all classes of society, and I saw time and again the upraised fist against God and against government."

Up to Mother

And then addressing herself to the mothers of America, Mrs. Demarest declared:

"Only good mothers will save America. I want you to listen to this: The Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party in the United States, stated that there were enrolled in the Communist National Student League over 5,100,000 high school students, and approximately 1,000,000 students in colleges and universities in the United States. That organization and the Student League for Industrial Democracy have united, forming the American Students Union. There is nothing in the name to warn honest Americans that this is a red organization."

Mrs. Demarest asserted that the United States has the greatest form of free, democratic, representative government in the world, but, she added:

"The people who cannot govern themselves cannot govern their nation. Only a God-governed people can be a self-governing people." She said the extraordinary advance of godlessness in America is undoubtedly the most serious menace to the country, and that if it continued the government would totter, the people would lose their free and glorious democracy and a totalitarian state would result.

Anti-God Teaching

She termed education a great wall of the nation and said:

"Let me say that all this ado about academic freedom is a mere smoke-screen to the end that in the name of 'higher learning,' 'advanced thought,' and 'culture,' atheistic and Communistic professors may deliberately destroy the faith of students coming from Christian homes. Too long have Americans been deceived by the misnomer, 'academic freedom.' This 'freedom' is one-sided and somewhat resembles the 'freedom' in Russia, where anti-God teaching is enforced by the government.

"All American mothers should procure a book called 'Crucifying Christ in Our Colleges.' They should know what is going on—they should know the Communistic, subversive, faith-destroying, ideal-destroying, Americanism-destroying philosophies that are being advanced in certain of our colleges and universities. The mothers of America could soon, if they would, put a stop to such soul-destroying propaganda."

Of another great wall of the nation, the church, Mrs. Demarest said:

"Even this wall is being undermined by the attacks of the Communists. There is not one great church or denomination that has not been penetrated by the false gospel of Socialism. Keeping step with loss of faith in the word of God has been the advance of Communistic teaching from our pulpits."

Propaganda

Mrs. Demarest urged parents to teach their children to revere God and worship him in the home. The homemakers of America, she said, are the builders of America. She added:

"The home also is destroyed by atheistic Communism. Some of you will remember when the Daily Worker had a full page cover with the words in large black type, 'My father is a liar,'—an article by a young girl who was attacking her father because he differed with her Communistic views and sympathies.

"According to Communistic teachings the commandment 'Honor your father and your mother' is 'silly, perfectly silly.' And that commandment is being increasingly ignored in America."

Mrs. Demarest concluded with a ringing call for a united assault on the undermining of religion. She declared:

"I say, Christians of America, make your souls into swords. As in the crusades of old, men and women were marked with the Cross when they enlisted, so every Christian today should wield the Cross of Christ as a spiritual sword in his hand. He must make of his soul a well-sharpened dagger for God! It is high time that true Americans and true Christians rise as one man and deal such a blow to the enemy of God, the enemy of America, and the enemy of humanity—Communism—as to make it impossible for it to recover."

MOTHER OF 7 NOMINATED

Law School years ago. He won the Republican nomination.

"It's a little bit early to ask me what I shall do when I get to Washington," Mrs. Reavey said today in room 6 of the Worthington street school. "I've won the nomination, but there is an election ahead. I believe I ought to win that before making any predictions or announcing any plans.

"However, I can say that if I am elected I shall proceed in accordance with the 16 principles of the National Union for Social Justice, which, you may say, constituted my platform in this primary campaign."

BEARS FAMILY OF 7

Being the mother of seven children will make no difference in her plans, she declared, and added,

"I've managed to teach school while I reared my family of seven, so I see no reason why I should not go on."

Married in 1913 to William A. Reavey, Mrs. Reavey is now 51 years old and has been a teacher 23 years. She is a graduate of Westfield State Teachers' College, and before that of the Cathedral High School.

Her seven children are M. Ruth Reavey, 22, teacher in Fiskdale; Claire, senior at Our Lady of the Elms Catholic College; Miriam, with the technical laboratory of Mercy Hospital; William A., Jr., a graduate of Cathedral High School; Lambert and Richard, high school students, and Thomas, youngest at seven years, who is in the third grade.

HE'S WASHED UP

Women End Laundryman's Job

New York, Sept. 16 (US)—Has anybody got a job for Tipaldo?

Joseph Tipaldo, the chap who upset the minimum wage law for women, the New York statute being held unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court, is very, very sorry he ever undertook the fight.

For Tipaldo, a Brooklyn laundryman, is no longer a laundryman, as a result of that battle. It required some $15,000 to $20,000 of his own money for lawyer's fees. The hotel association added more thousands.

After the Supreme Court decision was rendered, an indignant woman took her laundry away from Tipaldo and gave it to a competitor who didn't fight the law and paid his employes the previous scale.

Pretty soon two other women did likewise, then a dozen, then a score. Eventually, every customer deserted.

Tipaldo closed down his plant and offered to work for another laundryman, but nobody wanted him. He tried to get contractor's work, but no go.

Today he was still out looking for a job. It's pretty serious by this time; the union is bitterly opposed to Tipaldo. He'll be glad to consider any reasonable offer.

JEWISH NEW YEAR

Rosh-Hashona, 5697, at Sundown

At sundown tonight, Jews the world over will usher in Rosh-Hashona, the Jewish New Year 5697.

Every synagogue and temple throughout Greater Boston will be taxed with thousands of worshipping Jews to hear the blowing of "Shofar," which will initiate the high holidays that conclude ten days hence with Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement.

From tonight until sundown, Friday night, all business will be suspended in observance of one of the most significant holidays on the Jewish calendar.

Although a solemn occasion, Rosh Hashonah is not a mournful holiday. But hymns reflecting the contrite heart and penitent spirit are chanted by the cantor.

At the Congregation Adath Jeshurun Synagogue, Brunswick street and Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, the holy day services will be conducted by Cantor Boris Schiffman, assisted by a double symphonic choir directed by Hyman Cornfeld.

For the next two days, Jew will greet Jew as they meet in the synagogue with the traditional exchange of the day, "May you be inscribed for a good year."

G. O. P. GLEEFUL OVER UPSET OF DEMOCRATIC SLATE

given the governor two years ago in the November election.

Greenwood is an independent candidate in the November 3 election, and early today issued a statement, in which he said: "Jim will be hearing from me again on the third of November, not to mention in the meantime."

The vote of O'Brien is not regarded as a true test of the Union party's strength in Massachusetts, as many third party voters refused to go into the primary where they would have to accept either a Republican or Democratic ballot. In the registration period, just prior to the primary, hundreds of the followers of Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the greater part of whom were Democrats, cancelled their party enrollments.

O'Brien had the further handicap of running on stickers.

LODGE EASY VICTOR

Representative Henry Cabot Lodge of Beverly, the G. O. P. convention endorsed candidate for United States Senator, was an easy victor over former State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook of Boston and Guy M. Gray. Gray had the backing of the Townsendites. The Townsendites, like their fellow members in Maine, are apparently Republicans first.

John W. Haigis of Greenfield, Republican candidate for governor, and Charles F. Hurley of Cambridge, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, are nominated. Neither were opposed in the primaries.

Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook, the Republican sole survivor of the state ticket two years ago, was unanimously re-nominated, as was also Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of Newton, who had no contest for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Fears felt by Republican leaders over the outcome of the contest for state treasurer proved groundless. Former Postmaster William E. Hurley swamped his two opponents, former State Treasurer Fred Burrell of Medford and Asst. Dist. Atty. William G. Andrew of Cambridge.

BLOW TO DEMOCRATS

The Republican state committee had urged all the various Republican city and town committees to get on the line for Hurley, but a furore was created when it was discovered that Burrell had got on the ballot with the designation after his name of "state treasurer" instead of former state treasurer.

Public attention was immediately called to this omission by Chairman Sinclair Weeks of the Republican state committee.

The nomination of the former postmaster is a blow to the Democrats who were secretly hoping that the Republican voters would prefer the name of Burrell to that of Hurley.

State Auditor Thomas H. Buckley, one of the most popular office holders within the party, was a heavy victor over Leo D. Walsh of South Boston, his only opponent.

As was expected, Russell A. Wood of Cambridge walked away with the Republican nomination for state auditor, defeating Richard Darby of Everett.

Attorney-General Paul A. Dever was renominated. He had no opposition in the primary.

Also without opposition was Judge Felix Forte of Somerville for the Republican nomination for attorney general. Forte and Dever will battle it out in the November election.

Dr. Joseph Santosuosso of Boston, who was nominated two years ago for secretary of state by the Democrats was again renominated by a big margin over six opponents.

The primary vote of both parties was not near as heavy as was expected, despite the heavy pre-primary registrations in Boston and elsewhere. In 1934 the Democrats polled 437,250 in the primary and the Republicans 361,801.

Governor Curley, who was endorsed by the Democratic convention, was given a [illegible] throughout yesterday's balloting, although [illegible] the early returns showed a falling in personal popularity.

Lunenburg, in the home district of Mayor Greenwood, son-in-law of Senator Marcus A. Coolidge, gave Greenwood 49 to 12 for Curley. The neighboring city of Leominster gave Greenwood 583, Curley 493. O'Brien here got 62 votes.

Haverhill in Essex county, gave the Governor 1380, Greenwood 596, O'Brien 366.

WINS IN WESTFIELD

The Governor was victorious in Westfield, home city of former Governor Ely, arch foe of the New Deal. He got 501, Greenwood 299, O'Brien 88.

Peabody, a manufacturing center, came through for the governo Here Curley received 1198 votes t 521 for Greenwood and 472 f O'Brien.

The good showing by O'Brien i Peabody was duplicated in Brai tree. The former district attorne beat Greenwood here by five vote Governor Curley got 254, Gree wood 118, O'Brien 123.

In the 3-cornered contest for th Democratic nomination for lie tenant governor, former City Cou cillor Kelley showed surprisin strength in the rural district where Philbin, an associate of Senator David I. Walsh, was expected to roll up a substantial majority.

The popularity of former Civil Service Commissioner James M. Hurley, was demonstrated early in the voting for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer.

HURLEY'S ADVANTAGE

Hurley, former mayor of Marlboro, has a wider acquaintance throughout the state than his convention endorsed opponent, Senator James Scanlon of Somerville, possesses.

Hurley also had the added advantage of having an issue, Governor Curley having declined to reappoint him as civil service commissioner.

Rep. Lodge's nom'nation for the Republican nomination for United States senator was a walkaway from the start. Cook, who has been regarded as a wizard at vote getting in the G. O. P. primaries, here had to encounter a name that was wel. known.

Cook wil' be in the November 3 election contest again as an independent candidate for this office but on yesterday's showing, will not be able to make any appreciable cut in Lodge's vote.

A Hurley Will Still Be State Treasurer

A Hurley will continue next year as state treasurer whatever the outcome in the November election.

Republicans nominated William F. Hurley, former Boston postmaster, for treasurer.

Democrats nominated James M. Hurley, former state civil service commissioner.

The present state treasurer, Charles F. Hurley, is the Democratic nominee for governor. He has held the treasurer's position six years, the limit allowed by law.

Run-Away Nomination

GARNER VISITS LAGUARDIA

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—Vice-President John N. Garner paid a "purely social" call, as he described it, on Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia today.

The two conferred in City Hall and posed, smiling, for photographers.

The Vice President was accompanied on his call by Congressman Sam Rayburn, head of the Democratic speakers' bureau, but there was no indication confirming reports that LaGuardia may go on a speaking campaign on behalf of the re-election of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

Appeals Sentence In King Death Plot

London, Sept. 16 (AP)—Notice of intention to appeal a one-year sentence imposed on George Andrew McMahon on a charge of brandishing a revolver with intent to alarm King Edward VIII was filed by his attorneys today.

McMahon was convicted and sentenced Monday after trial in Old Bailey Court during which he testified he was involved in a foreign plot to assassinate the British monarch. Officials characterized his testimony as "fantastic."

'NEW DEAL' LOSES MICHIGAN; COUZENS, MOSES BEATEN

By the Associated Press

Names known the nation over figured in triumph and defeat today as the returns rolled in from primaries held yesterday in five states.

Senator James Couzens, one-time motor car magnate, who turned to a political career and has served 14 years in the senate, apparently lost to former Governor Wilber M. Brucker in the Republican senatorial contest in Michigan.

Former Senator George H. Moses, long a power in conservative Republican councils, failed in a comeback attempt in New Hampshire. The 39-year-old Governor H. Styles Bridges beat him for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Political statisticians went to work on the vote totals from the five states—Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, Wisconsin and New York—today in an effort to figure what, if anything, they signify for November.

Michigan Repudiates 'Deal' Also, Defeating Couzens

Detroit, Sept. 16 (AP)—Wilber Marion Brucker, 42-year-old former governor, defeated Senator James Couzens, pro-Roosevelt Republican, for the Republican nomination for senator in Tuesday's primary, by a margin which accumulating returns indicated might reach approximately 100,000.

In the other primary contest attracting major interest, Frank Murphy, high commissioner to the Philippines, won the Democratic nomination over George W. Welsh, Grand Rapids publisher and former Republican lieutenant governor, who switched parties after Murphy's entry into the race.

When 2607 of the state's 3467 precincts had reported, Brucker had 251,432 votes, while Couzens polled 157,479. Included in the tabulation were figures from 500 Wayne County (Detroit) precincts, where weary election clerks in 900 precincts still were counting ballots.

Senator Couzens admitted his defeat in a statement.

"Having given over 20 years to official public service, I am sincerely pleased to be relieved of further responsibility."

Townsend and Coughlin Candidates Defeated in N.Y.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP)—Regular Republican and Democratic votes smothered the hopes of Townsend and Coughlin candidates who sought 13 ofNew York's 45 Congressional nominations in the fall primary.

Eugene D. Crooker won in New York's 42nd Congressional district as both a Republican and Townsendite. His opponent was Anthony Fitzgerald, a supporter of the National Union for Social Justice. Crooker will oppose Rep. James M. Mead, Democrat, in November.

Two other backers of the $200-a-month pension ran fairly close races for congressional nomination in western New York, but their defeat was almost certain.

They were Emmet J. Larkin, opposing John L. Boyer in a Democratic fight, and Clare Barnes, opposing Rep. Daniel A. Reed, veteran Buffalo Republican.

Tammany demonstrated vitaily against independent opponents in New York City, apparently nominating William F. Brunn as president of the board of aldermen and three judges.

Wisconsin's Vote Puts 3 Men In Race for Governor

Milwaukee, Sept. 16 (AP)—Governor Philip La Follette, unopposed for renomination in the Progressive party, gathered more votes than either the Republican or Democratic party, late returns from yesterday's Wisconsin primary election indicated today.

Almost from the start of the tabulation, the 39-year-old governor's vote total surpassed that of the two Democrats who sought to oppose him in November. Today, with new batches of Milwaukee returns boosting the totals, he pulled ahead of the vote polled by two Republicans in a close contest.

With 2,772 of the state's 2,928 precincts reported, La Follette had 170,958.

In the other gubernatorial contests, the vote was:

Democrat, 2,777 precincts: William D. Carroll, State Senator, 57,555; Arthur W. Lueck, strong New Deal supporter, 82,767.

Republican, 2,781 precincts: John B. Chapple, independent young editor, 76,137; Alexander Wiley, organization endorsed, 82,218.

Langone Victor in Race Against Robert L. Lee

Senator Joseph A. Langone, Jr., stormy petrel of the North end, in a close battle with former Representative Robert L. Lee of Charlestown, was renominated in the Democratic primary.

With but three precincts missing out of 58, in the district which comprises Wards 1, 2 and 3, Langone received 9279 to 7663 for Lee.

Nine other candidates in the contest trailed the field. Ward 2, home sector of Lee gave the Charlestown man loyal support. The vote here was Langone, 1581; Lee, 4514.

Langone came through on a big margin given him in Ward 3 in the North and West Ends, and in East Boston.

Two years ago, in a seven-cornered contest, Langone received a total vote of 10,177 to Lee's 8793.

Th. North End senator is one of the staunchest supporters of Governor Curley.

RUSSELL, LUCE WIN IN NINTH DISTRICT

Congressman Richard M. Russell, former mayor of Cambridge, was renominated today as Democratic candidate for Congress in the Ninth District, while former Congressman Luce won the Republican nomination easily.

Cambridge Democrats saved Congressman Russell from falling to defeat when they gave him a plurality of 1600 votes. Until the vote in Cambridge was recorded, the former Cambridge mayor's battle for the congressional renomination, was spelled with defeat. Paul E. Seymour of Boston, a dark horse, was leading the fight by a sizable majority.

Congressman Russell defeated five opponents, with Paul E. Seymour of Boston runner-up.

The Luce victory was a landslide. The former Congressman received 22,684 ballots, while Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge got 6035 votes and C. Ernest Curtis of Waltham received 4336.

On the Democratic side, Congressman Russell received 10,146; Seymour, 8997; Albert L. Brophy, 4078; Roger M. Brady, 2265; Professor Earl M. Winslow, 1452; Charles J. McCann 1010.

Roosevelt Will Meet Bankers

Washington, Sept. 16 (AP)—A future White House conference of bankers was indicated today after insurance company officials talked with President Roosevelt yesterday in what the Chief Executive described as a discussion of mutual cooperation between their concerns and the government.

One of the insurance executives, Charles F. Williams, issued a statement praising the "stabilizing activities" of the government with regard to insurance during the depression, and called life insurance "the safest of all possible securities." He said the statement was endorsed by the half dozen other conferees.

President Roosevelt asserted that Colonel Frank Knox's argument that insurance policies and savings deposits are threatened by New Deal spending was not discussed.

POLICIES DISCUSSED

Replying to a question, the President said he probably would talk with leading bankers later. White House aides said the insurance meeting was one of a series of talks with business men the President had been holding for some time, and declared it was not prompted by the statements of Colonel Knox, the Republican candidate for Vice-President.

The Chief Executive said that fields for government-insurance company co-operation which were discussed included:

Annuity policies issued by the companies to supplement old-age or other benefits received by individuals under the government social security program.

Farm mortgages, on which possible mutual help can be given through an exchange of land surveys.

The President told reporters the conference brought out that insurance assets had jumped $3,000,000,000 in the past three years, and that the average size of policies was decreasing. More people, in other words, were taking out small policies.

The President interpreted this as meaning the bottom of the pyramid was getting wider.

Charles F. Williams, president of the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co., issued a statement which he said had been approved by his fellow conferees. It declared that life insurance policies are "the safest of all possible securities."

The Williams statement said insurance company assets "now total approximately $23,915,000,000 against $20,900,000,000 at the beginning of 1933."

The statement said there are 2,000,000 more policies in force than there were four years ago, and asserted improvement in general conditions "is reflected in a marked falling off in loans to policyholders, which at the beginning of 1933 totalled approximately 18 per cent of the companies' assets, whereas at the present time they are approximately 14 per cent."

New Haven, Ct., Sept. 16 (INS)—Leaders of the National Union for Social Justic today predicted that a crowd of more than 25,000 would throng Donovan Field, Savin Rock, tonight to hear Rev. Charles E. Coughlin espouse the cause of the Union party candidates in his only appearance in Connecticut during the presidential campaign.

Units from all sections of the state have made arrangements to attend the rally. John L. Coppenger, state leader of the organization, declared Father Coughlin would speak at 8:30, "rain, shine or earthquake."

Dad's cronies say for tastiness Our Family's Whiskey can't be beat!

Old Nat Weeks and Larry Burkes—they've lived in this distilling town their whole life—and you'd sure have to go some to find folks as fussy about the tastiness of whiskey as them. And the both of them were remarking just the other day how for good tasting and easy swallowing whiskey there's nothing that stacks up with the Wilken Family's Recipe.

Well that's the way it goes. Real old-timers well acquainted with Grandad when he was distilling, and knowing Dad all through his forty and more years of distilling—every last one of them says in this Family's Recipe of ours we got something nothing else can touch. But what makes me feel good is seeing everyone—no matter who they are or where they live—thinking just the same as Nat and Larry! Harry E. Wilken

RECOUNT ASKED BY BACIGALUPO

Representative Edward D. Bacigalupo of West End, who lost by two votes in the official tabulation of votes cast for Legislature in Ward 3, today petitioned the municipal election commission for a recount of yesterday's balloting.

Bacigalupo contends that he received a greater vote than the 2374 credited to him.

Original returns gave George Leary, Hendricks Club candidate, 2809 votes, making him top man in the contest. Two places are to be filled. Because the ward is a Democratic stronghold nomination is the equivalent of election.

William F. Brophy, also of West End, informed the election commission that he also desires a recount. He is credited with 2576 votes.

Repeater Forgets, Gets Jail Term

If Joseph R. McDonald's memory had been better yesterday, he might not today have been saddled with the burden of a six-month jail sentence for alleged illegal voting.

According to testimony in municipal court, McDonald, 27, of Massachusetts avenue, South End, got into the polling place in the Everett school, Northampton street, all right, but couldn't get out again.

McDonald was alleged to have given the name of Andrew J. Hennessey, also of Massachusetts avenue, when applying for a ballot, but when he deposited the ballot in the box and the checker again asked his name, he had forgotten the name he gave.

In court he appealed the sentence and was held in $500 for superior court.

HAMILTON SET FOR BIG PARLEY

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton came to New York today for conferences with party leaders of all the eastern seaboard states from Maine to Florida.

In preparation for a meeting tomorrow at the National Republican Club—which will be attended by national committeemen and state chairmen from the 17 states in the eastern division—Hamilton spent today in conference with Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., eastern division manager.

Martin returned here today from his home in North Attleboro, Mass., where he was renominated in yesterday's primary. Martin, discussing the campaign in Massachusetts, said:

"Roosevelt hasn't a chance to carry the state. Likewise he hasn't a chance to carry any state in New England."

Constipation
Undermines Children's Health

Your doctor will tell you that constipation is what makes so many growing children sickly. Poisons from the waste matter spread through their bodies and lower their resistance. A little Nujol every night will keep them regular as clockwork.

Mothers are the best friends of Nujol. When their children's health is at stake, they use Nujol—the remedy that medical authorities prescribe because it is so safe, so natural in its action.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol safe for everybody. Does not affect the stomach, is not absorbed by the body.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if the children don't feel better than you ever suspected they could. Ask your druggist for Nujol.

115,000 LANDON LEAD IN 'GRASS ROOTS' POLL

New York, Sept. 16 (INS)—Governor Alfred M. Landon today holds margin of nearly 115,000 votes over President Roosevelt in the "grass roots" presidential poll being conducted by 3000 country weekly newspapers. An aggregate of 450,116 ballots has been cast in 36 states during a four-week period.

The poll, conducted by the weeklies in co-operation with publishers' autocaster service and the American press, reaches only small town and farm voters.

Tabulation of returns gave the following figures and percentages:

Landon	267,725	59.5 P. C.
Roosevelt	153,094	34 P. C.
Lemke	21,326	4.7 P. C.

60 P. C. FOR LANDON

Ballots from 35 states last week revealed an aggregate vote of 359,280 with 60.9 per cent for Landon, 32.5 per cent for Roosevelt, and 4.7 per cent for Lemke.

Making its first appearance this week, Oregon gave Landon a slight majority, while California switched from the Roosevelt to the Kansas governor's column. Ohio, however, re-entered the Roosevelt group after being for Landon last week.

Twenty-nine states favor Landon. They are California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

President Roosevelt leads in Alabama, Florida, Idaho, North Carolina, Ohio, Texas and Utah.

Lemke, whose percentage of votes has shown a gradual decline, draws his greatest strength in Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, New Jersey, New York and Ohio, but he is far behind the two major candidates in these states.

LODGE AND TAFT TO SPEAK IN WESTFORD

Charles P. Taft of Ohio, son of the late President William Howard Taft, will be the chief speaker at the biennial rally of the Eighth Middlesex Senatorial Republican Council next Saturday afternoon at Nabnasset Lake, Westford.

Other speakers will include Representative Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, and the entire state ticket headed by John W. Haigis of Greenfield, G. O. P. gubernatorial candidate.

Local Republican clubs and city and town committees within the district are co-operating to make the rally a big success.

Taft, a former prosecuting attorney in Hamilton county, Ohio, is one of those who were summoned to Topeka, Kansas, as an adviser by Governor Alfred M. Landon, early in the presidential campaign. He was a speaker in the recent election campaign in Maine.

HEARS VICTORY IN HOSPITAL

Primary returns which showed him renominated as representative from the Third Middlesex District failed to make this a happy day for Candidate John J. Foley of Rindge street, Cambridge.

He heard the news from the polls as he sat in the accident ward of Cambridge City Hospital, waiting for bulletins from the bedside of his brother, Joseph Foley of Madison avenue, Cambridge, who was critically injured today in an automobile accident on Massachusetts avenue, North Cambridge.

Both Foley's legs were fractured and he suffered a possiblefracture of the skull. His name was on the danger list.

Edith Chase and Alice Lyman Make Debuts at Wayside Inn

By BETTY ALDEN

"As ancient is this hostelry
As any in the land may be,
Built in the old Colonial day,
When men lived in a grander way,
With ampler hospitality."

... wrote Longfellow about the Wayside Inn in South Sudbury . . . and, though some may disagree with his reflection on the quality of present day hospitality, they must admit that, despite the efforts of Henry Ford to preserve the Inn exactly as it was in Colonial days, it has nevertheless, undergone a definite change . . .

Modern influences persist in creeping in . . . and only yesterday, after housing several centuries of dinners and parties, the Wayside Inn had its first debutante affair . . .

The ancient rafters, which once resounded to the thump of tankards and the lusty drinking songs of Daniel Webster, George Washington, Lafayette and many other less famous, but equally thirsty, travellers, yesterday echoed faintly to the quavering voices of a group of debutantes as they joined the orchestra to sing the choruses of their favorite modern tunes . . .

The singing came after the luncheon which Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Chase of Milton and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison F. Lyman of Winchester, gave to introduce their debutante daughters, Edith Chase and Alice Lyman . . .

The hostesses received in front of a huge Colonial fireplace in the large ballroom, with all sorts of fall flowers banked on either side of the room and an orchestra playing during the reception and throughout luncheon . . .

Miss Lyman wore a plum-colored dress with a sash and velvet toque of dahlia blue . . . and her co-hostess reversed the colors and wore white orchids to match Miss Lyman's corsage . . .

Merry Group of Debs

JANET McNEIL, just off the boat from Paris, sported a Parisian suit of blue mixture tweed with plain blue hat and blouse just the color of her eyes . . . she lunched in a merry group, including Eleanor Van Kleeck in a soft tan tweed suit with dark brown accessories . . . and as they hurried off to keep another date, Margetta Bigelow in a bright tweed suit piled in the front seat of a sporty car with them . . .

Another merry group of debs, who admitted they thought it was fun to sit around and sing as they lingered over demitasse and ice cream, were Jean Farnsworth, Rebecca Jackson and Dorothy Ober . . . All three have friendly smiles and deep dimples which will go a long way toward making them pets of the stag lines at winter dances . . . Marjorie Remick is another with a vibrant, bright smile, and looked very pretty and gay in a violet suit with matching hat . . .

Mary Porter Wardwell is an animated little deb who takes her fun wherever she goes . . . and keeps her companions always in good spirits . . . She wore a bright green wool dress and was with Caroline Pierce of Milton and Nancy and Penelope Hill, twin sisters, who wore turquoise suits with buttercup yellow blouses . . .

Nancy Ames, who plans to be married in the near future to Lieutenant Cole, was one of the post deb group present as was Margaret Sperry in Dubonnet red from head to toe, Jessie Marshall in a turquoise sweater suit and Sister Ware in a tannish print . . .

Mary Welldon Weds on North Shore

MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL A. WELLDON of New York and Hamilton, who will soon be leaving Hamilton to take up the threads of social life in New York again, gave their North Shore neighbors something to remember them by . . . in the form of a beautiful wedding today . . .

Their eldest daughter, Mary, became the bride this noon of John McDougall of London, England, in the Ascension Memorial Church in Hamilton . . . and like everything else the Welldons do, there was something a little bit different and original even about the wedding . . .

The bride, in her floating gown of white net to match her veil, looked like a miniature doll as she glided down the aisle to meet her bridegroom . . . Her dress was fashioned with a tight waist, short puffed sleeves and a full skirt without a train . . . There were little buttons of orange blossoms on the front of the dress to match the wreath which held her veil in place . . . and she carried a bouquet of white bouvardia . . .

Clusters of pink and purple asters decorated the church . . . and the bride's two sisters, Janet and Angelica, both very attractive and individual, wore lovely gowns of pleated pink chiffon with arm bouquets of pink and purple asters . . . Instead of hats they wore little wreaths of pink and purple feathers around their hair . . .

Mrs. Welldon, who received with the rest of the bridal party at the reception and wedding breakfast at "The Cottage," their summer home, wore royal blue with a small feather toque . . .

* * *

Couple Will Live in London

THE BRIDE, who has just returned from a summer in Europe with her mother and sisters, is going abroad with her husband, who is a partner in Chatto and Windus, publishers in London . . . They are sailing September 23 and will make their home in London . . . The bride attended school in New York and Paris, as well as Barnard College . . . Her father who is vice-president of the First National Bank in New York, served as a major in the 308th Artillery during the World War . . .

Mr. McDougall is the son of Dr. W. S. McDougall of Wallington, Surrey . . . He graduated from Winchester and New College, Oxford . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Jr., of Ipswich, gave a dinner dance last evening in honor of the bride and bridegroom and a few of their closest friends who are here for the wedding . . .

Chatty Notes of Society

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tifft (Alice Lyons) of Swampscott, who surprised all their friends by announcing their marriage last week, are also honeymooning in Bermuda.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Warren and Mrs. Samuel Hoar of Boston are vacationing at The Rowleys in Riddell's Bay. Joanna Palfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Palfrey of Boston and Sharon, is at the Belmont Manor and still others from Boston relaxing on the sunny isle are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazel, Miss Ruth G. Dawes, Miss Janet Lewis, Miss Marion Whitcomb, Mr. Robert Bennett and Charles Coburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram G. Waters Jr., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Hannah Waters, at the Baker Memorial Hospital, Monday. Mrs. Waters is the former Elena Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Chipman Brown of Rye, N. Y., and Mr. Waters is the son of Mrs. Bertram Waters of Brookline.

"Wee have a printery here..."

THUS in 1638, Hugh Peter, resident of Cambridge, announced the birth of printing in America.

The first press had arrived from England in the care of Stephen Daye. Under his guiding hand it produced in Cambridge, in 1639, an almanac and a broadside displaying an oath for freemen. Then followed the famed Bay Psalm Book. These were America's first published works.

Printing and publishing today is the largest single industry in Boston, with an annual product valued at more than $44,000,000 and a yearly output of 25,000,000 bound books. In the "little red schoolhouses" of the rural sections and the grade schools of the cities millions of children learn their lessons from New England-made books. More than half of all the nation's school books are printed here.

Boston Bees Strike Oil

Randy Moore's Well

Hits Flood of Riches

BEING BOGGED DOWN IN THE SLOUGH of the league standings, Boston Bees and Brooklyn Dodgers have abandoned [illegible] any World Series dividends. [illegible] they are pop eyed with the prospect of bigger and more sudden riches than baseball can offer. A syndicate [illegible] both clubs [illegible] Randy Moore's Nebraska [illegible] learned today that [illegible] had [illegible] gusher [illegible] thousands of barrels [illegible]

[illegible]

Randy was [illegible] we press people like to call a "quandary." He [illegible] funds to drill. So he solicited some of his Boston teammates, like Bill McKechnie, Walter Berger, Al Lopez, Bill Urbanski, Duffy Lewis, John Quinn and Vice President Oscar Horton. He also [illegible] some of his Brooklyn chums, including [illegible] Johnny Cooney, [illegible] Casey Stengel.

▸ ▸ ▸

RANDY RAISES $25,000

RANDY MUST HAVE BEEN a persuasive salesman to have separated such a set of hard-fisted ball players from their [illegible] on a risky a gamble. But he did—for $25,000. The [illegible] syndicate, known [illegible] their investment [illegible] themselves [illegible] suckers.

[illegible]

▸ ▸ ▸

SHORE'S GOLDEN DELIRIUM

IF, BY SOME QUEER QUIRK, the oil strike makes Moore's venturesome investors mildly rich, it will be something of a shock to Bob Quinn's pennant dream during the next few years. Because it is questionable whether a set of wealthy oil magnates, receiving their monthly royalties, would care to skin their hips sliding into the bases or sprain any thews reaching for long fly balls.

[illegible]

▸ ▸ ▸

BILL BARS "OIL" TO BEES

THEN THERE WAS RUBE MARQUARD'S Florida real estate boom, at the height of that daffy delirium, when Rube sold hunks of land to his Braves' teammates, whom he guaranteed 1000 per cent on their money in six months. The athletes bought generously from Rube's map of colored squares only to find when they reported for Southern training that their acres were soggy marshland, inhabited by cotton mouth moccasins, rattlers and alligators. So they ganged Rube with ball bats one afternoon until, flustered by fright, he refunded their original payments and excused them the rest.

But I am assured by the Bee magnates that the reports on Randy's oil discovery are authentic and that he has turned a genuine miracle. Even McKechnie's customary Scotch taciturnity is ruffled, though he growled a warning to his fellow syndicalists that, if they cracked one word about "oil" either on the bench or in the locker house during the few remaining weeks of the ball season, he would slap on salary fines sufficient to soak up their prospective profits.

He said the only kind of "oil" he wished to hear around the Bees until October was the kind that gurgled from Trainer Jimmy Neary's liniment jugs.

OWENS Out; Meet CALLED OFF

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—Because Jesse Owens can't run as an amateur there won't be any track meet at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

The New York Caledonian Club made that decision last night after all efforts, including the intercession of A. A. U. authorities in his home district, had failed to have the Ohio State Negro restored to good standing.

Believing that Owens, winner of four Olympic gold medals, would outshine all the other Olympic stars entered as a "drawing card," the club cancelled the entire meet rather than have it "flop" without him.

Previously Owens had gone to Cleveland, where the registration committee of the Northeastern Ohio Association, A. A. U., had questioned him, then forwarded a recommendation that his suspension for having announced publicly [illegible] intention of turning professional be lifted immediately.

Instead the Metropolitan District Registration committee, adhering to the A. A. U. rule that one year must elapse before reinstatement, warned the club that Owens should not be permitted to compete.

London, Sept. 16 (AP)—Jack Lovelock, New Zealand's Olympic 1,500 meter champion, left on the Queen Mary today for the United States and what may be the last big race of his career. Lovelock is slated to oppose Glenn Cunningham, Archie San Romani and Donald Lash in a special mile run at Princeton October 3.

"For all practical purposes this race at Princeton will be my last," Lovelock said. "I'll not run next season."

Pilot Moves Crimson Players

The eleven best football players on my squad will be my varsity, even if I have to change the customary position of everyone of them.

It became apparent even after Harvard's first day of practice, that Harlow was living up to his word.

For the lineups of Harlow's three ranking elevens revealed several [illegible] position changes of [illegible] certain weaknesses [illegible]

[illegible] was the [illegible] of Cliff Wilson, last year's freshman captain, as the Team A center. [illegible] Wilson [illegible] as a [illegible] center for [illegible] Stanley's great freshman outfit a year ago.

Because he stood out as a blocker, Harlow shifted him to the blocking back position, where his defensive duties would parallel those he performed as center.

George Hednom, the 160 pound package of dynamite, who played fullback a year ago, has been moved to wingback, where his speed and offensive sparkle will not be dimmed by the arduous task of backing up the line.

Clarence "Chief" Boston, who was the yearlings' fullback last fall, has been moved into the center of the line to a guard position, where his lack of speed will not nullify his tremendous power.

At the same time Charlie Houghton, the gigantic freshman tackle, has been converted into a wing back, because he happens to be the best kicker on the squad.

The most important shift, of course, was that which moved Captain Jim Gaffney from guard to tackle. Gaffney began his football career at Harvard as an end, the position he played as a freshman and sophomore. Harlow converted him into a guard a year ago, and he proved Harvard's outstanding lineman.

Discovery Choice in $25,000 Race

By DAVE EGAN

Narragansett Park, Pawtucket, R. I., Sept. 16—The hammer of hoofs on the hard brown track; the hoarse bull-roar from a crowd of 40,000; the jockeys, in their brilliant silks, straining forward on the necks of the thoroughbreds, belting and booting their mounts, and then the Narragansett Special of 1936 is a thing of history.

Then the [illegible] chatter among themselves and say, "Well, who do you like in the next race?"

But first the Special must be run, for an added purse of $[illegible] and that, my friends, is the important business of the day.

Nine horses were named over night for the affair, and I [illegible] them [illegible] post position: Time Supply, [illegible], Accolade, [illegible], Sir Teddy, Howard, Stand Pat and [illegible]

The experts are going [illegible] and down on Discovery [illegible] though I don't know what the Vanderbilt [illegible] has shown in recent weeks to merit all the superlatives they are throwing at him.

He was so far back in the Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs a month ago that he did not have as good a view of the race as the experts in the press coop, and then he was beaten a dismal four [illegible] three-year-old named [illegible]

Gets Bumped

The experts, as a matter of fact are engaged in the practice of "throwing out" those races. They can throw out the Suffolk Downs race, because that day Discovery was bumped in the early running, and thereafter refused to take any interest in the proceedings.

But they will have to do some Dizzy Dean throwing to heave out the Granville race, where there was no bumping, no rough stuff, and the two of them simply marched to the starting post and settled it, fair and square like.

I don't think that Discovery is improving as he goes along. I don't think, either, that Discovery is truly a great thoroughbred, but don't bother writing me and telling me I'm full of bilge-water. I'm saying that he has been beaten too often and too thoroughly to be truly great.

He may pop up today and run a grand race, and he may win the whole boodle, but I don't think so. And even if he does, he still won't [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Wiseman [illegible] just as he was [illegible] Massachusetts. He'll get handling that is both intelligent and aggressive, and even if I lose my moderate and strictly wager, I'm certain that I'll go down shouting, for he's a cinch to be there or in the immediate vicinity when the ballots are counted.

It is Time Supply against the [illegible] Howard [illegible] than a little luck, Stand Pat is never very far away, and possibly the new owners of Howard have learned the secret.

There are secrets to race horses, you know. Some [illegible] blinkers, and some can't run without them. Some can't run if they are taken to the front and some can't run if they are not taken to the front.

Howard was always held many lengths off the pace when Bobby Curran trained him for the [illegible] stable, but last week he was traipsing along with the leader [illegible] the way. He may [illegible] a battle this afternoon.

Sir Teddy, too, is quite a [illegible] He was beaten a nose by Granville which is slightly better than Discovery did when he had a look into the red-streaked eye of the same horse.

But now this is becoming complicated, and verbose, and highly argumentative in character. So it's Time Supply for my money, if I happen to have any by the fifth race.

Dobie Plans To Crush Huskies

That game with Boston C[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] coach [illegible] last Spring [illegible]

Dick Harlow said:

"I always felt badly about my Western Maryland team beating Boston College 40-0 at Baltimore. I hated to see Joe McKenney's team suffer like that. Joe is too grand a fellow. I would have been satisfied if we had won 7-0, just as long as we won. But there was nothing we could do about it. It was an off day for Boston. Their passes went right into our hands. My kids just ran them back for touchdowns."

Dobie looked up in astonishment and in that low, slow voice of his said:

"You don't mean that, Dick. You and I and every other coach wants to win as convincingly as possible. We try to get as big a lead as we can. A game is never won until it's over. You're no different from me. I like victory and I don't care how big the score, I want to make that victory possible."

[illegible]

HANEY ON BUSINESS

Factory Employment
HITS HIGHEST POINT
Since Nov., 1930

By LEWIS HANEY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)

New York, Sept. 16—Statistical measurements of business activity in August show the anticipated irregularity and minor recessions in some cases that had been expected. Readjustments were required at points where government stimulants were withdrawn or other artificial conditions existed. The drouth also had some effect.

On the whole, however, the showing is satisfactory, and seems to fit in with forecasts of higher levels to come.

* * *

Of course, the iron and steel business is basic, and if there were no other figures one could be unqualifiedly bullish. Production gained more than seasonally, and was not only at the highest daily rate since the first half of 1930, but also closely approximated the old normal levels.

The fact that steel production remained relatively high compared with pig iron, together with the resumption of an uptrend in blast furnace activity, favors the conclusion that further gains will occur. The continued strength of steel scrap markets is also encouraging.

Other metals made a favorable showing in August. Copper consumption in the United States, at 64,000 tons, was good, and domestic stocks were reduced nearly 13,000 tons. Zinc shipments increased, and stocks of that metal declined.

* * *

And to clinch these indications, we find that general factory employment gained. At least this was true in New York State, and as New York factory employment goes, so goes the nation. There was a gain of 2.7 per cent in number of employes and 4.9 per cent in payrolls. This is considerably more than usual in August, and carries the index of employment to the highest point since November, 1930. Thus it means more than a mere resumption of work after a July shutdown.

I note that it was not only such industries as structural iron, cement and railway equipment that contributed to the increased employment. Large gains occurred in silver and jewelry manufacturing, pianos and musical instruments, and silks. Evidently the 1936 prosperity is not based on bare necessities.

* * *

It remains necessary, however, to record some less favorable performances.

For one thing, department store business slumped in August. The sales of 532 stores in 269 cities averaged only 86 per cent of the 1923-25 level, against 91 per cent in July. This is a decline in activity of about 6 per cent.

The returns from various areas were highly irregular, sales in Kansas City and St. Louis territories showing no gains over a year ago, while Atlanta and Dallas territories were 14-18 per cent higher. Evidently the drouth had some effect.

I venture to predict that the increased factory payrollls, and government spending on farmers, will soon reverse this trend, and bring a rise in department store sales. Federal estimates of farmers' purchasing power indicate an increase, chiefly because the prices of farm products were 20 per cent above a year ago, while the things farmers buy have not changed much yet.

* * *

The machine tool orders' barometer also pointed down in August. Considering the season, it was even lower than in June. Uncertainties concerning the election and the tax on undistributed earnings may have something to do with this slump in "capital goods." It seems more likely that the July spurt was overdone, particularly in foreign orders, and that earlier-than-usual tooling in the automobile industry was a factor. Anyhow, it takes more than one month's move in this erratic barometer to make a forecast.

Finally, we have to note that building activity did not show up so well. The value of the residential building that was actually started was greater; but new building permits declined, and the total for all construction was down. Evidently, the administration's public works administration activities were slowed up.

* * *

August had one less business day than usual, and this is not allowed for in some of the figures. Aside from that, I would say that August returns represent a little hesitation in a rising trend, chiefly caused by political fears, foreign disturbances and a serious drouth.

OPTIMISM ON PACIFIC COAST

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
Copyright, 1936, by Universal Service

New York, Sept. 16—To paraphrase an advertising slogan, there is growing belief that the forthcoming presidential election will have an economic effect eventually, but not now.

When I questioned him on this subject, Herbert Fleishhacker, president of the Anglo California National Bank of San Francisco, said: "I believe the outcome of the presidential election in November will have little bearing on the near-term economic trend, but that it holds many implications for the longer term outlook."

Mr. Fleishhacker revealed a undertone of optimism existing on the Pacific Coast.

"Prevailing business sentiment," the financier said, "is optimistic. This is proving a good crop year and drouth reduced yields in the mid-West and even in other countries are bettering prices that are being received here. Such gains, of course, eventually penetrate throughout the business structure and promote the spiral of rising trade activity. A good rise in residential building, which already is running 100 per cent in volume above a year ago, seems destined to lead the west coast area into new high ground for the recovery during the fall months. Tourist traffic is breaking all records and people appear to be spending money more freely than at any time since 1930. Electric power production has surpassed 1929 levels, lumber production is at a six-year peak and transporta- and shipping are experiencing remarkable gains.

"I expect that autumn business will hold its gain of the first half of the year and continue generally to show improvement. Comparisons with 1935 will not be so favorable as earlier because of the wide pickup during the closing months of the past year, but I believe that activity in this area nevertheless will continue well over 1935."

I queried Mr. Fleishhacker as to the outlook for bank credit in California.

"Bank lending," he answered, "should show some improvement over the near term but percentage gains probably will be less than the improvement in general business because of the cheapness of money rates for capital borrowings through new security issues. At the same time extremely low yields on first grade bonds, including governments and municipals, are increasing the problem of investment for bonds. Instalment loans by banks for the purpose of financing automobile purchases, and in more recent years personal loans, while not imposing in the aggregate, have proven a profitable outlet for employment of bank funds."

COL. KNOX'S COMMENTS

By B. C. FORBES

Jail doors are hardly likely to clank and clamp behind Colonel Frank Knox for his comments on the New Deal's effect on owners of insurance policies and savings bank deposits.

Here is the Republican vice-presidential candidate's declaration, made at Allentown, Pa.

"The present administration has been for four long years giving lip service to security and welfare, and today no life insurance policy is secure; no savings account is safe. The value of a worker's pay in buying the necessities of life is dependent upon the whim of amateur tinkerers with our money, banking and credit systems."

* * *

Secretary of Banking Harr of Pennsylvania three days later issued a threat that unless Colonel Knox denied that statement, legal proceedings would be instituted against him under a state law making it a criminal offense to circulate damaging information about financial institutions. Instead of recanting, Rough Rider Knox retaliates with this shot:

"I repeat that under the present policies of this administration no life insurance policy is secure, no savings account is safe . . . Because the present spending policy lead straight to inflation . . . It is not the insurance companies or the savings banks that are unsound. They are as safe as the rock of Gibraltar. It is the administration of the United States government that is unsound . . . I now assert that since the present administration took office the value of every life insurance policy and every savings account has been reduced."

* * *

What are the facts?

Bluntly, it cannot be successfully disputed that the abnormal overspending by the Roosevelt administration has not only injured the real value, the purchasing power of life insurance payments to owners of insurance policies or their beneficiaries and also the real value, the purchasing power of savings deposits; but the New Deal policies have also seriously reduced the earning power of insurance companies and savings banks.

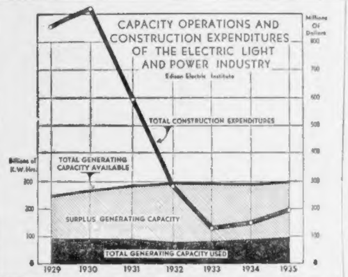
To facilitate its own colossal borrowing, the government has done everything within its power to lower the rental value of money.

Indeed, one of the proudest boasts of Washington is that it has been able to borrow money by the billions at unprecedentedly low rates. Short-term treasury borrowings have been effected at fantastically small fractions of one per cent a year.

* * *

Nor is this all. By foisting some $18,000,000,000 of its obligations upon America's banks, thereby creating an abnormal volume of "deposits," the banks have become glutted with funds, with abnormal excess reserves. This condition naturally has brought down the rates banks have been able to obtain on their loans, since super-abundance always means lowering of realizable prices.

PUBLIC UTILITY



Wall Street Sidelights

New York Sept. 16—Persistent gold buying by the Bank of England is emphasized by the current ratio of gold against currency in circulation.

Bullion on September 10 amounted to £247,618,482, or 55 per cent of the £445,591,298 note circulation. If the bank valued the gold on the present open market price, the coverage would approximate 90 per cent. Five years ago, or when the gold standard was suspended, the bullion reserves, at £136,000,000, constituted 38 per cent of the £352,000,000 circulation. The actual gold owned by Great Britain is not known, since the Exchange Equalization Fund's holdings are kept secret. The fund is understood to possess an even greater amount of gold than the central bank.

Expected Coal Rise And the P. & W. Va.

Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway, a small but important soft coal carrier serving western Pennsylvania coal and steel regions, is held by rail observers to be one of the carriers slated to benefit from heavier coal movement expected in the fourth quarter, and in the first quarter of 1937. Industrial stocks of coal are well below a year ago, and all indications point to a fall rise of industrial activity in the western Pennsylvania steel regions. In addition, dealers report that many industrial firms have deferred delivery of coal until after January 1, due to the fact that the 10 cents a ton freight surcharge expires then, and this should boost coal loadings in the initial quarter of next year. The Pittsburgh & West Virginia earned 241,000 or 79 cents a common share in the first seven months of this year, against net loss of $28,000 in the like 1935 period. An interested observer of P. & W. Va. earnings trends is Pennroad Corp, which holds 74 per cent of the carrier's capital stock.

Mid-September Cash Operations

A cash turnover almost approximating $2,000,000,000 will get under way today including operations on behalf of the treasury and corporate interest and dividend disbursements. Transactions involving the Treasury are estimated in the neighborhood of $1,375,000,000. Among these 285,000,000 are expected to make up this quarter's income tax collections. The largest financial operation consists of refunding $514,000,000 short term treasury notes for new 20 to 23 year 2¾ per cent bonds recently offered. In addition payments came due on the $400,000,000 cash portion of the same offering. Interest due on treasury obligations totals about $150,000,000. The remainder of the huge aggregate slated for transfer represents corporation dividend and interest checks.

MACHINE TOOL
Index Drops

Machine tool orders fell off 15 per cent during August, the sharpest drop the index of the National Machine Tool Builders Association has felt for the past 10 months, although the total of orders is still at the highest level since 1929 with the exception of June and July this year.

The foreign demand, which took such a sudden jump in July, failed to hold into August at that rate and domestic business in August increased its decline from the small amount it was off during July.

The total index was 127.5, against 150.1 in the preceding month and 125.8 in August, 1935.

FACTS SHOWN

Meddling Retards Growth

More vociferously than any other group of executives, the public utility officials have proclaimed that "if left alone by the Government," their industry would spend untold millions of dollars for "expansion, modernization, etc."

This chart was compiled to check whether the industry needs more capacity. Here are the facts, portrayed graphically in the chart:

The electric light and power industry at the end of 1935 had an installed generating capacity of 294,651,260,000 kilowatt hours. That is the maximum amount of electricity which could be produced by all the electric power plants in the country, operating 24 hours a day.

There was actually produced, however, only 92,321,517,000 kilowatt hours, or 31 per cent of the total capacity available.

In other words, more than two-thirds of the actual capacity was "unused." The explanation is that capacity production is necessary only a few hours each day, when demand is at its peak, during working hours, several hours at night, etc.

This "surplus" or "idle" generating capacity has always been hugely above actual output. In 1929 total generating capacity used reached the high mark of 36.4 per cent. By 1932 it had dropped to 26.2 per cent.

At present it is estimated by the industry that its maximum capacity is employed to the extent of about 85 or 87 per cent at the peak periods of demand. This is the highest total reached, however.

STEEL
Rate
HIGHER

CONTINUANCE PREDICTED

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—Incoming business of the steel industry, while running behind shipments, is again on the upgrade. "Iron Age" says today in its weekly review.

Ingot production has rebounded to 72 per cent of capacity, from 70 per cent in the preceding week, which included the Labor Day holiday.

"There is ample assurance," the review says, "of a continuance of the present rate of production, or a little better, to the end of October at least.

"Business in the heavy products, principally those used in building construction, has experienced a lull, which may be temporary in view of the large amount of work ahead, but the lighter products, particularly sheets, are in exceptionally good demand, with prospective additions to backlogs as the motor car industry prepares for volume production of 1937 models. Large sheet tonnages are expected from some of the automobile companies this week.

"There has been a decline in orders from railroads for car repair work, which recently has been hastened to provide needed equipment for the autumn bulge in carloadings, usually occurring in October. For the longer term, however, railroads are actively concerned with new equipment purchases, which are expected to increase progressively."

BOSTON BANKER

Explains WHY HE QUIT New Deal

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

T. Jefferson Coolidge, Boston banker and former Under Secretary of the Treasury in the Roosevelt administration, explains in some detail the reasons he resigned from his treasury post in the current Saturday Evening Post.

Writing under the title "We Are a Fortunate People" Mr. Coolidge expresses the opinion that lavish New Deal expenditures threaten both our form of government and the financial soundness of our country.

In dealing with the depression the Boston banker says that the forces that caused it spent themselves years ago and the forces of recovery were deep rooted and have triumphed. He goes on to say that no national emergency exists today except that of the government's own making. The disregard of the need for a balanced national budget is a matter of great concern to Mr. Coolidge and a symptom of the times that he regards with deep fear.

* * *

We have no hesitation in recommending that readers interested in the national economic problem read Mr. Coolidge's article. They will find it moderate in tone and literally drenched with a common sense philosophy that cannot help but aid them to a better understanding of the acts now threatening changes in our fundamental form of government. And for those who have honest doubts as to whether or not the new course is wrong there is much to stimulate thought and hasten the formation of definite ideas.

* * *

The business of stock trading just isn't what it used to be. Not when the press associations carry stories on their wires to the effect William Crapo Durant has become a food market tycoon. The only saving grace for us—and as a Wall Street order clerk we once handled some of his orders and the respect with which we regard him is understandable—is that the food market is not one of your two-by-four affairs. It is a big one in Asbury Park, N. J. Under Durant's direction the aim will be to sell good food cheap. And we almost forgot, it will have a restaurant purveying healthy dishes at five cents each.

* * *

The market continues to be a puzzling affair. Sections of it try to get somewhere at times but always there seems to be a dead weight dragging prices back. It is not traceable to volume selling and must therefore be attributed to trader and investor apathy. No reason for changing our views of yesterday is apparent as yet and we only wait and see if a rally in here succeeds in lifting buying spirits enough to generate sufficient enthusiasm to push prices to new peaks.

Bar Silver

London, Sept. 16 (AP)—Bar silver very steady, 1-16 higher at 19½d. (Sterling price equivalent to 44.40 cents.)

STOCKS LOWER

Aviation SHARES BUCK Trend

New York, Sept. 16—A limping stock market today leaned on a few aviation and specialty issues.

Profit-taking was general throughout other sections of the list, with most of the steels, motors, rails, utilities and oils shifting into reverse for declines of fractions to a point or more. Trading near the fourth hour was extremely slow.

Politics, while exciting more discussion in the boardrooms, apparently was a neutral influence. Election forecasts varied widely.

Business and industrial news maintained its constructive flavor, but failed to stimulate buying ardor in the majority of instances.

Wright Aeronautical stood out with a gain of some 10 points at its best, although it backed up in the afternoon. Other lesser advances were scored by Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Curtiss-Wright, United Aircraft and Sperry.

Improvement was also shown by Loew's, Twin City Rapid Transit, Atlantic Gulf & West Indies common and preferred, Pressed Steel Car, International Paper preferred and Childs Co.

Tilting lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American, American Smelting, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Westinghouse, General Electric, duPont, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Delaware & Hudson.

Rail bonds attracted a little attention on the upside, but other loans marked time. Grains rallied at Chicago. Other commodities were mixed. Sterling and the French franc slipped a shade either way.

Timely Topics

Holders of the steels read the weekly review of "Iron Age" with considerable satisfaction.

The magazine said all signs now point to a continuance of the current high steel mill operating rate to the end of October at least.

While orders in the heavy products division were found to be lagging, the slight let-down was believed to be temporary. Preparations to furnish large sheet tonnages to the automobile companies for their 1937 models are now under way, it was added.

Those interested in the utilities noted electric power consumption for the week ended Sept. 12 was off a trifle from the preceding period due to the Labor Day holiday. The recession was much less than seasonal and the aggregate was 11 per cent ahead of the 1935 week.

The French franc, at the beginning of foreign exchange transactions, was off .00 1-16 of a cent at 6.58 7-16 cents, and sterling was ⅛ of a cent lower at 5.06⅛.

Electric Power Index Rises

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Associated Press index of electric power production, with 1929-1930 taken as 100, advanced for the week ended Sept. 12 to 116.1 from 115.7 the previous week. In the same week last year the index, which is adjusted for seasonal and long-term trend, stood at 100.9.

The range for recent years follows:

	1936	1935	1934	1933
High	117.4	105.5	97.4	91.9
Low	102.0	94.1	91.9	80.2

Actual production, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute, was 2,028,583,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,827,513,000 kilowatt hours in the same 1935 week, an increase of 11 per cent. In the preceding week output was 2,098,924,000 kilowatt hours.

Comments of Brokers

We repeat that a more than cautious attitude is required at this time, and that the maintenance of at least a 50 per cent liquid trading position is desirable. R. S. Feiges-Prentice, Blauner and Brady.

Technically, the market as a whole acts favorably, with volume tending to narrow on minor setbacks. On basis of cold statistics, coppers and oils ought to do better. H. D. Comer-Paine, Webber and Co.

Conservative traders might continue a cautious market policy until there are more indications that the recent selling has been completed and for instance that yesterday's lows will hold. J. S. Wilson-Josephthal and Co.

Technically, the market may be said to be entitled to a rally of at least a point or two. However, we would refrain from re-entering the market until a rally of greater than technical proportions is indicated. J. E. Molloy—Hornblower & Weeks.

The outlook for the market based on the only fundamental factor—the state of business—is still constructive. F. H. Richardson—Southgate & Co.

10 P. C. WAGE INCREASE

Utility Workers' Cuts Wiped Out

Newark, Sept. 16—The twenty thousand employes of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and its subsidiaries waited today with whetted appetites for October 1, when they will get the first slice of a $3,000,000-a-year pay rise melon.

The 10 per cent wage boost, coming after a 5 per cent increase in April, 1934, wipes out cuts of 6 and 9 per cent imposed in 1932 and 1933.

The Utility Combine, largest employer in the state, had a payroll of $41,394,301 last year.

The directors, who voted the increase late yesterday, took into account signs of improving business, including an increase of $806,583 in gross receipts during the first seven months of 1936 compared with the corresponding period of 1935.

The Public Service provides gas, electricity, power, street railway and bus service to much of New Jersey.

Officials of the company in top salary brackets will not benefit from the pay rise, the directors announced.

It was estimated that the increase trolley and bus operators would average about $33 a week.

25 Years Ago

New York, Sept. 15 (INS)—Western Union reported acquisition of Anglo-American and direct United States Cable companies.

Premier Laurier warned Canadian manufacturers to cease fight on reciprocity.

New Haven Railroad was buying up New England traction lines.

New Haven Plans Under Way

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 16 (INS)—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad today went forward with plans to reorganize under Section 77-B of the Federal Bankruptcy Act, following a ruling by Federal Judge Carroll C. Hincks that the act is constitutional.

The ruling came as Judge Hincks denied the petition of Arthur F. Scofield of Bridgeport, holder of $700 worth of bonds issued by the railroad, to dismiss the reorganization proceedings.

Meanwhile, the railroad announced that $3,075,000 in 3 per cent equipment trust certificates have been awarded to a syndicate managed by Whiting, Weeks & Knowles, Inc., of Boston, subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the United States District Court.

The Pope's Message

A UNION of world opinion against the subversive forces of Communism which threaten to destroy all civilization as they have destroyed Spain has been urged by Pope Pius.

In a message broadcast to the entire civilized world from the Summer Vatican, the Pope declared the tragedy in Spain had been accompanied by propaganda of the forces of subversion:

"Intent on subjecting the whole world to those absurd and disastrous ideologies with which they have seduced and stirred up the masses, aiming at nothing less than arming them and throwing them madly against every form of institution, human and divine."

The subversive forces against which Pope Pius thus warns all nations and all religions are merged in Communism, as the text of his message clearly reveals.

THE deep concern of the Pope and the great church he represents, of all other churches and religions and of civilized people everywhere, is the sparing of other lands from the horrible tragedy Communism has inflicted upon Spain.

The determination that Communist propaganda must not bear its bitter fruit in countries where the destructive seed may be already germinating is the inspiration of the Papal message which goes beyond all limits of sect or creed.

When the blight of Communism falls upon any nation, the freedom to worship God in any form is the first institution to be assailed.

All religions, therefore, to which peace-loving, God-fearing people of all nations subscribe find common cause in this stirring appeal.

THE Pope's solemn summons to the whole world to unite and act against Communism in time to forestall the extreme ruin it threatens is the call of an earnest and a just leader of men to people of all religions and all races.

The uniting of world opinion against Communism will create the only force that can prevent new explosions of hate.

The havoc in Spain should be object lesson enough to speed this union in other countries, none of which is secure against the same tragedy.

In Landon's Steps

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has, evidently, been reading Governor Landon on Civil Service reform.

An executive order issued on September 3 extends Civil Service requirements to the home owners' loan corporation—"as far as possible."

On July 20 the President in a blanket order brought all postmasters under Civil Service rules.

But Governor Landon BEFORE EITHER OF THESE DATES—in fact, at the time of the Republican National Convention in Cleveland—wired the convention:

"I BELIEVE THERE SHOULD BE INCLUDED [IN THE MERIT SYSTEM] EVERY POSITION IN THE ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICE BELOW THE RANK OF ASSISTANT SECRETARIES OF MAJOR DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES, AND THAT THIS INCLUSION SHOULD COVER THE ENTIRE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT."

And when it is recalled, along with these things, that Governor Landon was working on the present Roosevelt drouth idea four years ago, we can quite understand why Jobmaster General Farley doesn't like Landon at all.

A Great Artist Dies

IRVING THALBERG, one of the world's greatest motion picture producers, is dead.

He was only thirty-seven—so young to die.

But into those brief years, Irving Thalberg had crowded a long lifetime of splendid achievement.

He had won material success and, greater than that, spiritual success.

Tirelessly, devotedly, he followed his own high ideals.

He believed that motion pictures could be fine and beautiful, true and uplifting, and to that cause he dedicated his life.

Success did not change him. He was modest and kindly, tolerant and understanding, a great and gallant gentleman.

He made no enemies—only friends.

The world today grieves with his lovely wife, Norma Shearer, and with all those near and dear to the man who could ill be spared by motion pictures and by the world.

Trotzky's Yelp

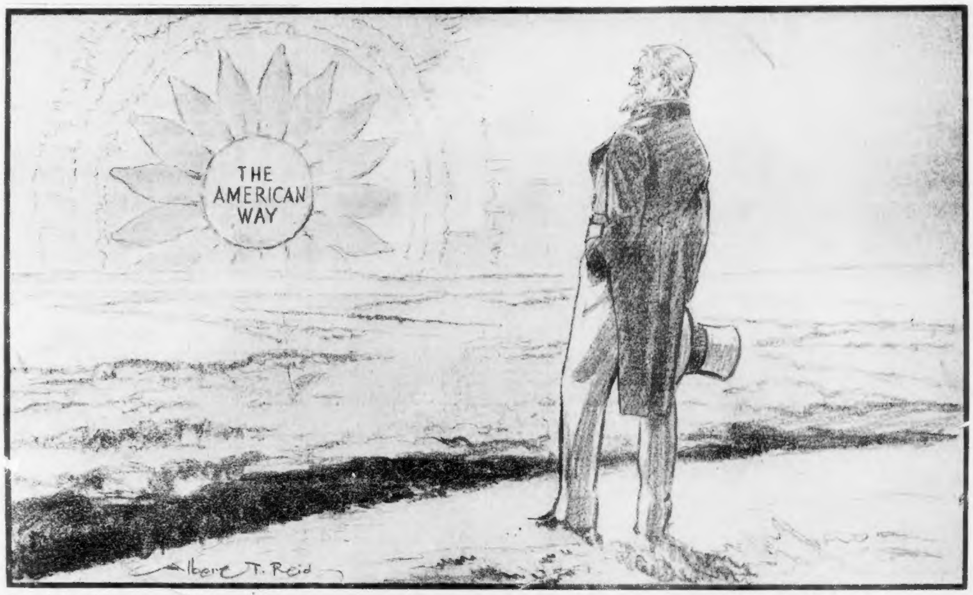
A DISPATCH from Oslo, Norway, says Leon Trotzky, who has been "segregated" a la Russe demands "his full liberty."

Coming from the man who with Lenin inaugurated the Red terror in Russia, wherein millions of persons lost not only their "full liberty" but their lives, this ought to cause a loud sardonic laugh from the Siberian wastes and concentration camps in Stalin's vast shooting-lodge.

Trotzky, like the rest of the Reds, can "DISH IT OUT BUT CAN'T TAKE IT."

November Dawn

Copyright, 1936, by American Newspapers, Inc.



Out of the night comes a bright golden light
With a promise of a glamorous day,
A promise of wealth and of national health
In the good old American way.

An American dawn when the night has withdrawn
Its tempestuous clouds from the scene,
It will nourish the soil for the millions who toil
With a future refreshing and green.

Dispersing despair, there is hope in the air
Of November's prophetical morn
When the national voice will arise and rejoice
That American ways are reborn.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

New York, Sept. 16—Owners of estates in Westchester, Ct., Jersey and Long Island have grown lake conscious. An inland summer home without a lake is as declasse as a Hollywood hacienda without a scrumptious swimming pool. The craze started early this season in the Ridgefield section.

In a few weeks several hundred workmen were dredging a score or more estates. And the idea began to spread like fire in dry grass. Mostly the lakes are for the children to swim in and sail toy boats, but some have grown to the pretentions of acres.

A fair-sized lake, I am told, costs around $1500, but there are a dozen in the hoity toity Greenwich area that represent an outlay of $12,000 each. With the fad has grown a group of experts. In Radio City there is an expensive office tagged: "Artificial Lake Consultants."

The experts can blueprint a lake and set it in first class shape in a few weeks time. Real estate men say the innovation has made a large number of lakeless residences unrentable. And they further remark, with a shrug, that lakes draw mosquitoes and other winged pests.

Roxy's name seems destined for endurance even though largely forgot along the highway he beglamoured. In the area of the Roxy theater alone are 20 places—shoe shine and lunch stands, gown shops and the like—that bear the name Roxy. In Brooklyn, Bronx and Harlem are similar Roxy establishments. And there's scarcely a city of size that hasn't a Roxy this or that. Incidentally, the name was a pet term of the showman's wife.

Rus in urbe note: From the 9th floor of a Radio City building the other morning one may have seen, two floors below on a terrace, a man cutting grass. Cutting grass seven stories above the ground.

On West 44th street the other noonday I passed Smith and Dale, the burly burly comedians. They were the originators and members of the old Avon Comedy Four, that vaudeville quartette that used to stir many to riotous applause. They came up from the sidewalk ruff-scruff to be partners, sentimentally and professionally, through life.

And I understand that, through salting their savings in cash through the years, they are not only prosperous but have weathered every depression. Many would like to see them revive that quartette.

Something went out of American life when the quartette went the way of the pug dog. Ring Lardner was the last defender. And he, too, rest his fine soul, has joined the heavenly choir.

Mayor LaGuardia is also one of the Sitters on One Leg. When the Mayor bounces into a room, his quick eye usually falls on a capacious chair and he makes for it in full bounce. Tucking one leg under his roly-poly bulk like a chicken tucking a head under wing.

Most Sitters on One Leg are pudgy. Such as Charles Laughton, Alexander Woollcott, Colonel Joseph Hartfield and James M. Barrie. Yet the custom has its addicts among the long legged. Lincoln liked to indulge this posture when relaxing for reading. And perhaps the most modern exponent is the tall and gangling playwright, Robert E. Sherwood.

Robert Sherwood, by the way, is the envy of almost every man who slaps a typewriter for a living. He has become the old squire of Tory Hall—an easy going gentleman of a lush English countryside, a short spin from London. He has a regimentation of trained servants and even bell pulls to summon them like they have in the sets of English plays. He writes when the mood seizes him. There is no special hurry, for his royalties from past successes continue to come in with pleasant regularity.

Sherwood is one of the native New Yorkers who knocked about on Park Row, edited Life awhile and decided he would write a play. It was a hit and he continued to write mostly hits—more indeed than anyone of his time. He borders on seven feet in height.

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Her club is discussing this muchly muddled modern world, and the various mix-ups we mortals are in—so won't I please give my opinion on who's hardest hit?

Gladly, lady. And with gusto! Basing the same on 20 years of fevered fan mail and considerable personal snooping.

To my notion, the most perplexed, plagued, pestered and generally picked-n'-put-upon human in our modern scene is—

The married woman worker.

And the more efficient and successful she is, the more is she "on the spot."

For Why? For several why's. First—a married woman worker never holds one job, always two or three. She's mother, housekeeper, mate, social secretary, business confidante and general fixer. And in each of these jobs she is expected, by virtue of her business training, to surpass a strictly domestic record.

Other mortals may loaf on the job. The wife next door may spend a gossipy morning over the 'phone and let the sewing go until tomorrow. Her husband may sprawl out with pipe and paper after working hours.

A DIFFICULT ROLE

But no such luxuries for the Married Woman Worker. Having ceased being Saleswoman and Boss, she must instantly become a "16-cylinder Misses" or face the indignant glares and sneers or the hurt wonder of an outraged family and community.

This, however, is the least of the married women worker's burdens. Far harder to manage or endure, and infinitely more demoralizing to wifely affection and respect is—

Masculine Resentment.

Every married woman worker is wedded not only to a man but to a GRUDGE. Grudge against what? Against that very job by which her family profits. Wives, to be sure, have always worked, and husbands have always expected them to do so. But they worked in a sphere which did not challenge the superior male.

A TARGET FOR ANGER

Superior, how? No matter how. He just was. Time was when Papa expected and received first place for no weightier reason than that he could grow whiskers and an Adam's apple. But with woman's advent into the industrial world, this simple argument no longer sufficed. The male no longer looms large by mere comparison with the female's littleness. He now must make good on his own. And, as a consequence, he is having a swell fit of pouts.

Nor is this attitude confined to the diggers and delvers. The learned and mighty are quite as riled by feminine efficiency as the lowly low-brow, and equally pesty about it. Under this particular modest of men become "regular meanies."

The married woman worker is not only a target for her husband's ire, but she is also the alibi for his errors. If he blunders, or in any way "loses face" before his masculine contemporaries, SHE is responsible. SHE has, in some way, neglected or imposed upon him . . . failed to understand him . . . interfered with his program.

In short, though theoretically emancipated, she must still be the domestic scapegoat which her mother was before her . . . that scapegoat which every male has required since Adam first chewed the apple and blamed it on Mrs. Eve!

And yet, girls, somehow, nevertheless and notwithstanding, we couldn't do without them, could we?

Richard Harding Davis

The Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

THE GLOBE TROTTER OF HEARST METROTONE NEWS

Edwin C. Hill

At a New York club the other day, this writer got into an argument about Richard Harding Davis. The younger members were insisting there wasn't much to him except his shiny puttees and his swagger stick, and that he had just one bag of tricks—a few overworked stereotypes of juvenile romance, and that he got around more and really saw less than any living man.

The rest of us fought this heresy, smiting the enemy with "The Bar Sinister," "Gallagher," "The Man Who Could Not Lose" and other books by Davis, which we insisted far outweighed any bit of fustian in the Davis output. Like all such arguments, it ended with nobody making any concessions, but it served to heighten my interest in some back-trailing of the Davis meanderings in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan Magazine for October.

John Baragwanath, noted mining engineer, contributes the first of a series of factual tales, which, incidentally, flash up those unforgettable Richard Harding Davis pictures of South American revolutions, disasters and mining camps. Not that Mr. Baragwanath is deliberately supplying a backdrop of reality for Davis. But that is just what he does, and it is interesting to observe that fact, though laggard, may sometimes be quite as exciting as fiction.

The writer covers Goldfield and other great American mining camps, Alaska and the various rich mining regions of South America. It just happens that my old friend, Bill Hershey, is in town. Bill is a member in high standing of the quite serious organization known as "The Tropical Tramps," and he has covered all of the Davis-Baragwanath trail.

TROPICAL TRAMPS

Bill, so far as I know, is the only New Yorker who can play Panguingi, an esoteric card game, played only by mushers and sourdoughs, desert rats, Tropical Tramps and Callao Buenaventura remittance men. It is a game which, in its speed and complexity, makes bridge seem like kindergarten stuff.

There is a hint of deep, inexplicable things among these wanderers—such as John Baragwanath's tale of the rock-throwing spook, in the above-mentioned magazine article.

Certainly, with due allowance for fallibility, there is inexhaustible mystery and adventure in the sagas of the gold-seekers, from the "Hassayampa" prospector to the mining engineer. Bill got to yarning about Goldfield:

"Baragwanath could have shot a dozen articles on that berg," he said. "There was never anything like it in America before, and I guess there never will be again. His estimate of 25,000 people there was pretty low. There must have been at least 30,000 in 1905 and 1906. Anything less than a $20 goldpiece was small change.

GOLDEN DAYS

"When you went broke, you told your neighbor you and your friends had suffered some misfortune and required an advance to finish an evening of craps, roulette, twenty-one and a half—in fact, everything you ever heard of. The answer was always a handful of gold coin. And the astonishing thing about it was that it was always paid back.

"One night a heavyweight deliberately fouled his opponent, in full view of the audience. There was a riot which blew off like a keg of gunpowder. The fight mob boiled up on the platform; there were a half-dozen shots. Quickly a ring of men with drawn guns formed around the fighter. This and this alone saved his life.

"Down at Callao, we used to meet at La Casa de Los Tres Estrellitas. There you would hear yarns such as neither Richard Harding Davis nor John Baragwanath has ever told. It's a strange thing! Down in the Kenya colony, I found that if you lived there long enough you got to believing in the witch doctors.

"Just hit around out of the way places 30 or 40 years and you'll begin to think anything can happen. Conrad got that way. I am sure that Mr. Baragwanath's story of the ghost throwing rocks is nothing to what he could tell if he wanted to."

That's That

By Bruce Gustin

At last President Roosevelt revealed the promised land of the New Deal. He is going to head us into "green pastures beside still waters." That is where we are supposed to find the "more abundant life." There we are to enjoy "social security" everybody is to be content. All our Utopian dreams are to be realized without any effort on our part.

Skeptics may say that the President's allusions, in his Charlotte, N. C., speech, to "green pastures" and "still waters" indicates that in the opinion of the New Dealers the American people are just so many cattle or sheep. Cattle and sheep revel in green pastures and like to graze beside still waters. The New Dealers have been inclined all along to try to herd people and subject everything and everybody to the Administration's dictation.

In line with his novel policy of making "non-political" campaign speeches this year, the President preached a sort of political sermon at Charlotte. His reference to "green pastures" and "still waters" made it sound more like a funeral oration. But in sticking to generalities and in substituting eloquence for specific promises, he at least saves himself the embarrassment, in the event he is re-elected, of being confronted with broken campaign pledges.

While the President was painting such an alluring word picture of "green pastures beside still waters," the world was seeing in Germany just what the situation is after people submit to the herd rule of a dictator. Fifty thousand workmen, organized into a labor camp corps, marched in review past Hitler.

"Good morning, comrades of labor," was his greeting to them.

"Good morning, Fuehrer (leader)" was their response.

Quite a beautiful picture, until you consider that when the leader commands them to march they have to march whether they want to or not, and THE NEXT TIME THEY MARCH THEY MAY NOT BE MARCHING IN "GREEN PASTURES" WITH SHOVELS ON THEIR SHOULDERS. THEY MAY BE MARCHING TO BATTLEFIELDS WITH GUNS ON THEIR SHOULDERS.

There may be technical differences between Communism, Fascism and Socialism. But they all have the same purpose—subjugation of the individual to the will of a government controlled, not by the people but by one man or a little group of ruthless men. They all involve some kind of dictatorship. Their inevitable product is a Stalin or a Mussolini or a Hitler. Eventually there is ONE MAN TO TELL EVERYBODY ELSE WHAT IS BEST FOR THEM.

The argument that people must choose between Fascism and Communism is the poison which has been used to destroy what little democracy there was in Continental Europe. People were told Fascism was the only alternative to Communism. That is why they submitted to Fascist dictatorship in Italy and Germany. They never had any democracy to speak of over there. The people didn't understand that in the long run the only difference between Fascism and Communism is who shall be the tyrant.

Bible Text: "Be not overcome with evil, but overcome evil with good."— Romans 12:21.
